RUSSIAN INVASION

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

IT'S invasion. Russia's sugarcoating by saying it is merely sending peacekeeping forces into Ukraine's rebel-held territories after recognising them, cannot absolve itself of the crime of invading a neighbour. It's not done. The time for war is here.

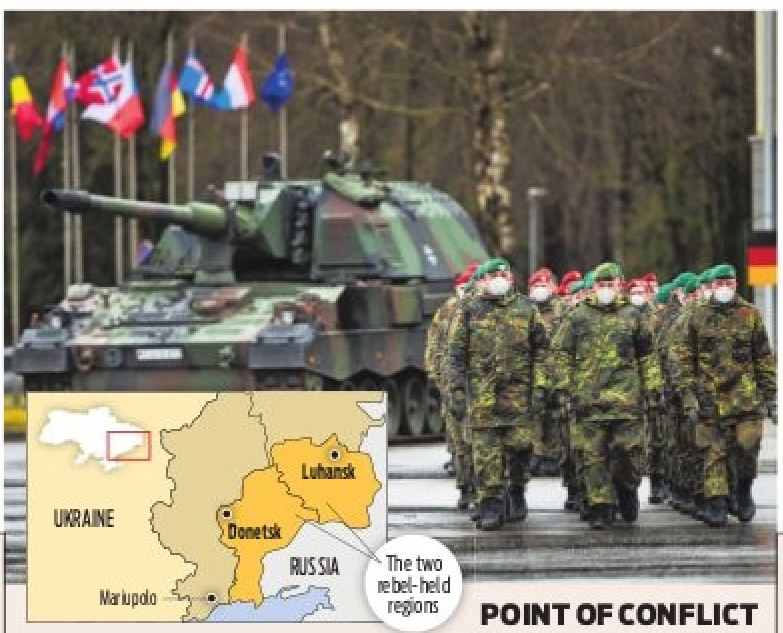
Russian President Putin's transgression drew angry sanctions from the West and validated predictions of his US counterpart about an imminent war in Ukraine.

The US said the Russian action amounted to the beginning of an invasion. However, there were differences among the Western allies on calling Russia's actions as invasion. "I wouldn't say that (it is) a full-fledged invasion, but Russian troops are on Ukrainian soil," said EU foreign policy chief Josep Borrell.

But, as news filtered in of Russia's upper house of parliament giving Putin its approval to use military force outside the country, things looked grim as that could presage a broader attack on Ukraine.

Fears mounted that Russian forces may move deeper into the Ukrainian territory, beyond the separatist enclaves and aim for an assault of Kyiv, despite assurances by Kremlin that there are no such plans.

India reacted cautiously to the developments. While expressing deep concerns, New Delhi stopped short of criticising Russia. "These developments have the potential to undermine peace and security of the region. The priority is de-escalation of tensions taking into account the legitimate interests of all countries," said India's Permanent Representative to the UN, TS Tirumurti. P12



POINT OF CONFLICT

4 more held for Harsha's murder, Shivamogga edgy

MARX TEJASWI @ Shivamogga

A day after two persons were arrested in connection with the murder of Bajrang Dal activist Harsha, the Shivamogga police have arrested four more persons. The police suspect that more may be involved in the case and are on the lookout.

A sense of unease continued to prevail on Tuesday with the city turning into a fortress. As many as 1,200 police personnel and the Rapid Action Force (RAF) are patrolling the city to maintain law and order. But some miscreants managed to set fire to three autorickshaws and two motorcycles in the wee hours of Tuesday.

The four arrested are Asif Ullah Khan, Rihan Sharif, Nihan and Abdul Afnan. On Monday, Mohammad Khasif (30) and Syed Nadeem were arrested. Superintendent of Police B M Laxmi Prasad told reporters that Khasif is the main accused while Nadeem is Accused No. 2. Asif Ullah Khan, Rihan Sharif, Nihan and Afnan are accused number three to six, respectively. Except for Khasif, the other accused are aged 21 and 22.

"All the accused are residents of the city. We detained 12 people and found that six were involved in the murder. Of the six, four are involved in crimes including assault, attempt to murder and rioting. The victim Harsha was also an accused in two cases of rioting and hurting religious sentiments, registered in 2016 and 2017," the SP said. P4

Imran Khan invites Modi for TV debate to resolve issues

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

PAKISTAN Prime Minister Imran Khan on Tuesday invited Narendra Modi for a TV debate to resolve the differences between the two countries.

"It would be beneficial for the people in the Indian subcontinent, if differences could be resolved through debate," Khan told Russia Today.

"Our only issue is Kashmir. Let's sit down and resolve it," Khan said.

There was no immediate reaction from the Ministry of External Affairs to Khan's comments. India has maintained that talks with Pakistan cannot happen so long as Islamabad supports terror groups that target India.

Speaking on trade relations with India, Khan said: "India became a hostile country so trade with them became minimal." In Moscow, Khan is scheduled to hold talks with Russian President Vladimir Putin.

Actor Chetan arrested over tweet on HC judge

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Bengaluru City police on Tuesday arrested 38-year-old Sandalwood actor Chetan Kumar Ahimsa on charges of intentional insult to provoke breach of peace and statements amounting to public mischief. The actor has allegedly tweeted about a judge of the Karnataka High Court who is part of the three-judge bench hearing a batch of petitions on the hijab issue.

Chetan has been booked under Section 505 (2) (intent to incite a class or community to commit offence against another class or community) and Section 504 (intentionally insulting, thereby giving provocation to any person to break public peace) of the Indian Penal Code.

A senior police officer from Seshadripuram police station said a suo motu case was registered after the actor repeatedly tweeted about the High Court judge. CONTINUED ON: P5

Woman ends life over hubby's taunts on looks

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

HER husband's frequent taunts and chiding about her "ugly" looks allegedly drove a 32-year-old woman to take her own life, unable to bear his taunts anymore.

The incident occurred at DJ Halli on Monday afternoon, where the deceased Anisha lived with her husband Nizamuddin.

After Nizamuddin taunted her again on Monday afternoon, Anisha poured kerosene on herself and set herself ablaze. Neighbours doused the fire and rushed her to Victoria Hospital, but she succumbed on Tuesday.

Anisha's aggrieved parents lodged a complaint with the DJ Halli police, who detained Nizamuddin for questioning. They have taken up a case of abetment to suicide.

Plaints, 6 FIRs later, home buyers still out in the cold

Main promoter of multi-storeyed project in Varthur is absconding, and many buyers are seeking a refund, says RERA-K chief

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

NEARLY 14 months after the completion date, buyers of 314 residential units at the Hilife Greens project in Varthur are waging a bitter battle to get either their promised houses or a refund of their payments. Six FIRs have been filed in the last three months against its present and past directors, 101 complaints registered with the Real Estate Regulatory Authority-Karnataka (RERA-K), and 92 home buyers have filed a petition with the National Consumer Disputes Redressal Commission.

According to the home buyers, the promoter claims to have no money to complete the project, and wants to mobilise revenue by building new villas in the common amenity area and sell them.

Aggrieved homeowners told TNIE that the builder had sold 55 allotted flats at this RERA-approved project to a prominent real-estate promoter without their knowledge. The buyers managed to invalidate it with great difficulty.

The 314 units were planned in three towers of ground-plus-10 storeys and three towers of ground-plus-nine storeys. Two swimming pools, badminton and volleyball courts figured among the promised amenities. Although the project completion date was December 2020, construction has not resumed since November 2019. RERA-K chairman Kishore Chandra confirmed that the promoter did not appear before the Authority despite repeated summons. "The main promoter is absconding. Many buyers are now seeking a refund," he said.

Despite repeated attempts, no one at Hilife Ventures could be reached. One of the hapless buyers is Sujai Panicker, an IT consultant. "I have paid Rs 57.5 lakh (80%) for a flat in Tower A. Most of the work is complete, but plastering and minor works remain. However, even basic infra is not ready in D, E and F towers and unless everything is completed, we will not be given an Occupancy Certificate," he told TNIE.

None of the home buyers have ever seen the promoter, Prasad Reddy, who hails from Nellore in Andhra Pradesh, but various directors speak on his behalf, said another affected individual.

Prakhar Jaiswal, an IT professional, said, "An agreement was signed by the promoter with a third party in February 2019 and we discovered it only in June 2020. Thanks to the FIRs, we got it cancelled. One of the directors was in jail for a week and released later," he said. Reliance HFL put out an open auction on December 12, 2021, to recover the loans extended for the project.

Home buyers filed a petition in the High Court and stopped it, he added.

VIGIL STEPPED UP ON HILL RANGES

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

FOLLOWING a Delhi-based trekker's ordeal and trauma after falling into a gorge in Brahmagiri hills, officials in Chikkaballapur have become more vigilant, and have deployed more watchers and staffers to monitor the areas.

After it was pointed that there was a staff shortage to keep a close watch on locations, the Eco Tourism Development Board has deployed watchers. Locals have also been roped in to help out. Routes for grazers have also been closed.

"Apart from increasing the presence of staffers, the help of locals is also being taken to act as guards. Some are deployed on duty, others have been asked to report any incidents or footmarks spotted. This is because they know the locations better than the staffers. We have also started to fence forest areas along Brahmagiri and Skandagiri hills. We will also fence the areas around Nandi Hills, and only keep the protected and secured route open," said a forest department official.

District administration officials stated that those coming from Bengaluru on solo trips and in groups will be watched closely. Their details will be entered in log books along with entry and exit, and contact details. "This is needed since the youth who got stranded, had said he will be going to Nandi Hills, but parked his two-wheeler a little further from the checkpost. He deviated and trekked to Brahmagiri hills. Now more staffers are being deployed not just on weekends, but on weekdays too," the official added.

1 lakh tablets donated to kin of martyrs

ENS @Bengaluru

The Rotary India Literacy Mission (RILM) has teamed up with a startup to donate one lakh tablet PCs to the families of martyred police and Armed Forces personnel.

First In Class (FIC), an EdTech platform, volunteered to provide the tablets for free, and have included a curated course load framed under the CBSE-NCERT syllabus for Classes K to 12. The course load will be available in twelve languages, including Kannada and English, as the tablets will be distributed nationwide. It will also allow parents to review their children's work and track their progress.

In addition, the platform also offers cultural learning, language learning, linguistic training and spiritual learning modules, as well as entrance test modules and UPSC, law and engineering specialisations.

An MoU was signed between FIC and RILM.

Disaster mgmt cell to chalk out roadmap

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Karnataka State Natural Disaster Monitoring Centre (KSNDMC) held its first meeting on Tuesday to create the Karnataka Disaster Risk Reduction Roadmap, a disaster mitigation plan for the next 10 years.

Nodal officers of each government agency and department were present at the meeting. With Unicef as a knowledge partner, this is the first initiative with an aim to ensure the state is prepared to handle all natural and man-made disasters. KSNDMC is also using geo-spatial technology to create the roadmap, which so far, was just on paper.

All resources are being mapped to know where the closest and fastest help is available, how to reach the site, and even whom to contact in case of an emergency. Five districts have been chosen on a pilot basis, and two districts -- Udupi and Dakshina Kannada – have executed it.

KSNDMC Managing Director Manoj Rajan told TNIE that the aim of the roadmap is to make Karnataka disaster-resilient. Problems are being addressed and incorporated into each district and region. Details of disasters in the past, what could happen in the coming days and ways to handle them will be included in the roadmap, which will answer the question of how to respond to a disaster, and mitigate the effect. A target of two months has been set to complete the preparation of the roadmap, after which it will be implemented, he added.

Gaming federation's portal to track industry updates

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

The All India Gaming Federation (AIGF), India's apex industry and self-regulatory body for online gaming, has launched a new intelligence services portal, https://aigfintelligence.in/ that would "monitor, track and give latest updates, analysis on developments in court cases, regulations and policy developments both at the Centre and states" on the online gaming industry.

"Powered by the gaming focused online news portal g2g.news, AIGF's intelligence platform will give exclusive access to fast-paced developments in different courts, state and central governments as well as access to key reports, documents and expert analysis that will help all stakeholders be abreast of the latest changes in the industry," stated the Federation.

"AIGF is happy to partner with G2G Technologies to launch a new intelligence-based regulatory updates platform. The online gaming industry has seen some swift developments in various states as well as courts and other forums, but information about the same is not available to all stakeholders in a timely and curated manner," said Roland Landers, chief executive officer, AIGF. He added that with "AIGF Intelligence, we hope to provide latest information and updates as well as research and analysis on the evolving regulatory and real market situations. The new portal will be of immense benefit to members of AIGF and other stakeholders," he added.

"Insights from the new portal will benefit top executives in the online gaming industry, investors, journalists, lawyers and other professionals," stated the AIGF.

Role of Scouts and Guides lauded

Bengaluru The enormous voluntary work rendered by Scouts and Guides of Karnataka during the pandemic came in for much appreciation from the State Chief Commissioner, Scouts and Guides, PGR Sindhia on Tuesday. Delivering the chief guest address at the GPO to mark the release of a special postal cover to mark World Thinking Day 2022 and the birth anniversary of Scouts and Guides Movement founder RSS Baden Powell and his wife Olave Powell, Sindhia said they rendered all assistance sought by doctors, health and ASHA workers during Covid-19. He called upon scouts and guides to work towards protecting the environment and gender equality. Chief Postmaster General, Karnataka Postal Circle, S Rajendra Kumar said February 22, 2022, marked a very special occasion as the date 20022022 is both a palindrome as well as an ambigram. ENS

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

23rd February : The current heavenly alignment represents the beginning of a new cycle and the build-up of a fresh wave of energy. However, tradition states that it's a fine time for a rest, and that we can all put off urgent tasks for another few days. Sit back and make plans for when the time comes!

ARIES
(Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Perhaps you have overstepped the mark and allowed yourself to be pushed into a corner, with the result that you simply have to retaliate in order to protect your position. However, friends are still on your side, and that is reassuring news.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 - May 21)
Stick to the straight and narrow and place your faith in dialogue and reason. It is long-term relationships which are important to you, so please pay attention to partners' wants and desires. Watch out for a legal minefield and don't bend the rules.

GEMINI
(May 22 - June 21)
Sometimes it is wiser to let things take their own course rather than intervene at every turn. Consider current developments with great care, for your interference may exacerbate a number of complex situations. Oh - and prepare for a financial squall.

CANCER
(June 22 - July 23)
Your planetary patterns have been intense, and there must have been many moments during past few months when you have come close to throwing in the towel. However, you are by your nature a fighter and unlikely ever to admit defeat. That, by the way, is among your major strengths.

LEO
(July 24 - Aug. 23)
Neptune is one of those planets which has a particular meaning for you. Right now it is likely to bring offers of practical assistance that should keep you active and prevent you from dwelling on past associations which may have turned remarkably sour.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Try to get away from your usual environment as new encounters could lead to associations which are emotionally rewarding or potentially profitable. Events, connected to higher education or the law, are highlighted. But, then, so are artistic and athletic interests.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Under stressful planetary aspects you have no doubt learned a few harsh lessons. Perhaps you have realised that, while it is nobler to give than receive, you must not promise what is beyond your power to deliver. That way, you won't be caught out by family members.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Mercury's talkative role in your life is now stronger than ever, and the temptation must be to force others to divulge all you think you have the right to know, and perhaps one or two items that are none of your business. You must know where to draw the line.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
A particular emotional tie is much more important to you than you care to admit. From now on, maintaining such vital associations will require more effort than you have been prepared to put in, in the past. That could leave you with more time in the long run.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Look upon this as a time for psychological spring-cleaning. Challenging planetary pressures are being transformed rapidly into harmonious influences, and all parts of your life will benefit. It's amazing how easy it is to make a fresh start when you really want to.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
You will soon be so preoccupied with unexp-ected developments related to your home life, that you will be forced to abandon a number of commitments if you are to stand a chance of restoring order. That's probably no great burden though, for there are responsibilities that you'd be happy to see the back of!

PISCES
(Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Few of you have avoided some sort of major upheaval recently. Whether your experience was fortunate or not, it seems to have made you that much more understanding and broad-minded. On the other hand, you must never forget that occasionally, just once in a while, you do have to judge others.

Covid on wane, healthcare focus back on NCDs

Health dept looks at shift to digitisation, to develop dashboard, take up social media campaigns

CHETANA BELAGERE @ Bengaluru

WITH the Covid-19 pandemic seemingly subsiding in Karnataka, the health department wants to refocus on non-communicable diseases and other important issues in the healthcare system.

"We want to refocus on several non-Covid related aspects, mainly treatment and screening of non-communicable diseases like hypertension, diabetes, stroke and cancer, which need immediate attention," Health Commissioner D Randeep said.

The health department plans to develop a health dashboard, and gradually shift to digitisation. "This will help in better monitoring through IT initiatives. Transparent data sharing through monthly and quarterly bulletins is being planned. We will also be increasing social media campaigns to create awareness on various issues related to health," added Randeep.

He said the department also plans to develop need-based CSR support for strengthening infrastructure, screening camps and creating a platform for easier participation of corporates.

The focus will be non-communicable diseases, and the need of the hour is target-based approach for better performance of the state using Sustainable Development Goals, NITI Aayog and other standard indicators as benchmarks to plan for the future. Mental health will be addressed through tie-ups with institutes like Nimhans.

Dr CN Manjunath, Director of Jayadeva Hospital and member of the Technical Advisory Committee, said it is also important for the state department to stress on the importance of treating both Covid and non-Covid cases, if any future wave occurs.

Also, hospitals have to cull out information from their database of people who have postponed their elective surgeries or missed out routine follow-ups, and that has to be stressed on now. "While it is good to augment and strengthen medical infrastructure in terms of equipment, the focus should be on manpower augmentation. ICU care has to be strengthened in district and taluk hospitals. Otherwise, they will assume critical care has to be sent to a tertiary care hospitals. Golden hour treatment of emergencies should be strengthened," he added.

Booked for torn passport, man blames it on fight with wife

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

A Bengalurean returning from Dubai to the city was held by Immigration officials at Kempegowda International Airport for removing pages which had visa stamping on them, from his passport. The document was in two pieces, and he was booked for tampering with it under the Passport Act.

Tarun Kumar, a resident of Vasanth Nagar, who arrived by Emirates flight EK 564 on Monday, was detained by immigration officials as soon as they saw his passport, DCP Anoop Shetty told TNIE. "Pages 9, 10, 31, 32 and 34 had been torn off and were missing. Also, pages 3, 4, 5 and 6 were separated from the rest of the booklet. This amounts to tampering with the passport, which is a serious offence, and an FIR has been filed against him at the Airport police station under Sections 12 (1)(b) of the Passport Act." The section deals with attempts to alter entries made in a passport or travel document.

A police source said Kumar had claimed the pages in the booklet went missing during a fight with his wife. "The truth behind his claims are being investigated," he said.

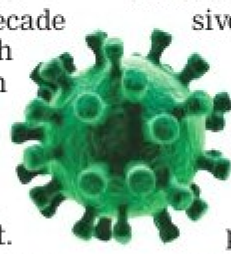
Meanwhile, police issued a notice to him after booking a case. "The passport has been seized and further probe is on," he added.

This is a a different case, as tampering with facts in passports or forgery are usually the case. Removal of numerous pages from the identity document which would make the offence quite obvious is rarely done, said a source.

Covid+ woman delivers 500-gm preemie, mom, baby back home

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

IN a high-risk case, a pregnant woman suffering from severe Covid-19 complications was hospitalised, and underwent an emergency C-section at 24 weeks of pregnancy. She delivered an extremely premature baby weighing 500 grams.



After fighting for a decade to conceive, during which time she went through multiple miscarriages and 10 rounds of IVF treatment, Rekha Ramesh finally succeeded in getting pregnant. However, she contracted Covid-19, her health condition deteriorated and she had to be hospitalised in the ICU as her pregnancy was at risk.

"Her lungs were damaged due to the infection so we had to put her on ventilator. We immediately performed a Caesarean delivery, and had to do it fast as we could not expose her to anaesthesia for long. She could not be operated on a flat surface and C-section was performed in the reclining sitting posture," said Dr Chetana V, Sr Consultant -- Obstetrics & Gynaecology, Aster CMI Hospital.

The baby was intubated and shifted to the neonatal intensive care unit (NICU).

"The journey was a challenge as the baby faced many complications like severe respiratory distress syndrome, requiring prolonged ventilator support followed by NIV, symptomatic Patent Ductus Arteriosus, feeding intolerance (Early Necrotizing Enterocolitis) requiring total parenteral nutrition.

The baby also had post-Covid complications (MIS-N) and both eyes were affected with Retinopathy of prematurity, for which laser treatment was performed in the NICU," said Dr Sudheer K A, Consultant -- Neonatology & Paediatrics, Aster CMI Hospital.

After 100 days of continuous monitoring in the NICU, the baby's condition improved and fed by the mother, the baby put on adequate weight and was discharged. Meanwhile, Rekha too remained in the ICU for a few weeks after delivery and gradually improved. After delivery, she was given anti-infection, oxytocin, and fluid rehydration therapy.

"When I was about to become a mother, I was infected with Covid-19. The infection affected my pregnancy which led to giving birth to an extremely premature baby. My baby's weight was 500 grams when she was born and after 3.5 months she was about 1 kg," Rekha said.

After a three-month follow-up, both mother and infant are in good health.

KC GEN HOSPITAL GETS 1K LITRE OXYGEN PLANT

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

HEALTH Minister K Sudhakar on Tuesday inaugurated a 1,000 litre per minute PSA (Pressure Swing Adsorption) oxygen plant at KC General Hospital. The plant was donated by HDFC bank.

On the occasion, the minister announced that a 50-bed Pediatric ICU facility will come up at the hospital, and there is a proposal to open a new 200-bed Mother Child Health (MCH) wing.

"KC General has 2.6 kilo litres of oxygen (PSA) capacity at present, which was installed from the PM-CARES fund. We also have a liquid medical oxygen (LMO) plant of 8 kilo litres. Normally, PSA plants cater to general bed and HDU patients. For ICU and ventilator patients, we found LMO to be more useful," Sudhakar said.

"Never before in history did we witness patients requiring so much oxygen as during the pandemic. The pandemic has taught us that we need to be ready. We have geared ourselves up and every state can now handle the pandemic in a self-sufficient manner," he added.

BASIC SALARY	Existing	Proposed
MLAs and MLCs	₹25,000	₹40,000
Chief Minister	₹50,000	₹75,000
Ministers	₹40,000	₹60,000
Speaker and Chairman	₹50,000	₹75,000
Leader of Opposition	₹40,000	₹60,000
ALLOWANCES
House rent for ministers	₹80,000	₹1.2 lakh
House maintenance allowance	₹20,000	₹30,000
Ministers fuel allowance:	1,000 litres	1,500 litres
Sumptuary allowance for CM, ministers, Speaker, Council chair	₹3 lakh	₹4.5 lakh
Travel allowance PER DAY	₹2,000	₹2,500
Road mileage allowance	₹25 per km	₹30 per km

EVEN as Karnataka grapples with the pandemic, economic slowdown and other financial constraints, elected representatives have reportedly gifted themselves a 'bumper salary hike'. Ahead of the state budget, the Assembly on Tuesday passed Bills that proposed a hike of 50 per cent in salaries and other allowances for the Chief Minister, ministers, and legislators, along with the Speaker and Council Chairman. The new hike will come into effect from April 1, 2022. The Bills also propose to increase the salary once in five years automatically.

While the Karnataka Ministers Salaries and Allowances (Amendment) Bill, 2022, proposed a salary hike of 50 per cent to the CM and ministers, the Karnataka Legislature Salaries, Pensions and Allowances (Amendment) Bill, 2022, proposed to give a 50 per cent hike in salaries to MLAs, MLCs, Speaker and Deputy Speakers, Council Chairman and Deputy Chairman. They also proposed to get an increase in allowances, towards the members' houses, travel, and phone bills.

According to the proposed Bill, the CM will now get Rs 75,000 per month as basic pay, from the earlier Rs 50,000; while the ministers' salary has increased from Rs 40,000 to Rs 60,000. This apart, they are entitled to get house allowances of Rs 1.2 lakh (from the existing Rs 80,000), along with Rs 20,000 towards phone bills, Rs 40,000 for constituency allowances, Rs 5,000 for postal charges, and other expenditures. Meanwhile, salaries of MLAs increased from Rs 25,000 per month to Rs 40,000. While the Karnataka Ministers Salaries and Allowances (Amendment) Bill makes an additional financial burden of Rs 25.4 crore, the Karnataka Legislature Salaries, Pensions and Allowances (Amendment) Bill, 2022, will be a recurring additional expenditure of Rs 67 crore annually.

As expected, none among the legislators has opposed the decision to hike their salaries by 50 per cent, when the State Government is staring at a financial crunch. While Congress members were in the well of the House demanding RDPR Minister KS Eshwarappa's resignation, there was no debate on these Bills, which were passed within minutes. Speaking to The New Indian Express, a senior minister on the condition of anonymity, said that salary hikes for MLAs and ministers were done once in two years earlier, but in Karnataka, for the last seven years, it has not been done.

Placing the Bills before the House, Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister JC Madhuswamy said that the State Government has not increased the salary and allowances of the CM, ministers and MLAs since 2015.

When asked about the hikes amidst a financial crisis, CM Bommai said the legislators' salaries have not increased for many reasons in the past many years.

CM to present budget on March 4

Bengaluru: Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai, who also holds the Finance portfolio, will present his maiden budget on March 4. "I have decided to present the budget on March 4 and we are preparing for it," the CM told reporters on Tuesday. In the last few days, Bommai held a series of meetings with ministers and senior officials from various departments to discuss projects and programmes to be included in the budget, possibly with focus on Bengaluru's development too.

No judicial probe in Harsha case: Govt

Bengaluru: The State Government has ruled out considering a judicial probe into the murder of Bajrang Dal activist Harsha in Shivamogga. During a discussion in the Council, JDS MLC Srikantegowda said the police had failed to protect Harsha. He demanded that the case be handed over to judicial inquiry. In reply, Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister JC Madhuswamy clarified that there was no such proposal before the government.

Budget session adjourned to March, 6 Bills passed

CM Basavaraj Bommai addresses the Assembly at Vidhana Soudha in Bengaluru on Tuesday | EXPRESS

THE state legislative session abruptly ended on Tuesday, three days before the scheduled date of February 25, as the Congress continued its protest for the sixth day, seeking RDPR Minister KS Eshwarappa's resignation over his remark on the national flag.

The Legislative Assembly and the Council were adjourned till March 4, without much debate on the pressing issues of the state. Six Bills -- the Criminal Law Amendment Ordinance, 1944, Karnataka (Amendment) Bill, 2022; Karnataka Stamp (Amendment) Bill, 2022; Karnataka Stamp (Second Amendment) Bill, 2022; Karnataka Civil Services (Validation of Selection and Appointment of 2011 Batch Gazetted Probationers) Bill, 2022; Karnataka Ministers' Salaries and Allowances (Amendment) Bill 2022; Karnataka Legislature Salaries, Pensions and Allowances (Amendment) Bill 2022 -- were passed in both Houses.

"This is the first time in the history of Karnataka that a CM is replying to the Governor's speech without the Opposition taking part in the discussion. This is a blot in the history of the state," CM Basavaraj Bommai said. In his response to the Governor's speech, Bommai said that despite the challenges posed by the pandemic, the government had delivered several programmes. He mentioned Raita Vidyanidhi, compensation for crops and houses lost in the floods, ex-gratia to victims of Covid-19, construction of five lakh homes, granting Rs 3,500 crore for development of state highways, implementation of NEP, water supply to 11 lakh homes, employment and R&D policy among others.

CM blames Congress

Terming the behaviour of the Congress as irresponsible, CM Bommai blamed the grand old party for the murder of 23-year-old Bajrang Dal activist Harsha in Shivamogga, and also for the prevailing tension in the state. Stating that the government is implementing the High Court's interim order on hijab, Bommai said, "The Congress is misleading people and creating unnecessary confusion. When the case is before the High Court, both the ruling and opposition parties need to face it together."

Granting sanction for every woman to wear hijab violates dignity, AG tells HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

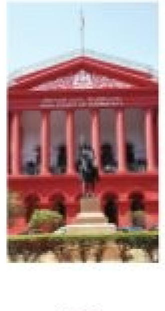
STATE Advocate General Prabhuling K Navadagi on Tuesday told the Karnataka High Court that seeking judicial sanction for every Muslim woman to wear a hijab is impermissible and it will violate the dignity of women. Therefore, women cannot be subjected to compulsion of dress, which should be left to the women concerned, he said, while pleading with the court to keep in mind the dignity of women while deciding on the issue.

Navadagi made this submission before parting with his arguments, while quoting a popular song from the 1967 Hindi movie 'Humraaz', which he said he had listened to earlier in the morning: "Naa muh chupake jiyo, aur naa sar jhukake jiyo; ghamon ka daur bhi aaye to muskarake jiyo" (Live neither with your face hidden, nor with your head bowed, even in times of sorrow, live with a smile).

Arguing before the full bench of Chief Justice Ritu Raj Awasthi and Justices Krishna S Dixit and J M Khazi, which is hearing of a batch of petitions questioning the State Government's February 5 order banning hijabs in school and college classrooms where a college development committee (CDC) is constituted, he specifically pointed out that there is no discrimination based on religion.

Navadagi pointed out that there was no mention in the Quran about the hijab being an essential religious practice, and said the entire frame of the petition is compulsion. He argued that the petitioners should demonstrate beyond doubt what is compulsorily followed. Under Article 19(1)(a) of the Constitution, there is no prohibition on wearing hijab in the country, but it is subject to reasonable restrictions under 19(2) which can be imposed within institutional discipline like schools, hospitals, military establishments, etc., he added.

Meanwhile, the AG stated that the government does not interfere in private unaided minority institutions with regard to uniforms. Hence, the court disposed of a petition filed by Karnataka State Minorities Educational Institutions Managements Federation. The court also indicated that it will conclude the hearing by the end of the week.



Naa muh chupake jiyo, aur naa sar jhukake jiyo; ghamon ka daur bhi aaye to muskarake jiyo" (Live neither with your face hidden, nor with your head bowed, even in times of sorrow, live with a smile)

Petitioner's family restaurant targeted, brother attacked

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Udupi

UNIDENTIFIED miscreants on Monday night attacked a restaurant in Malpe, owned by Hyder Ali, the father of Hazra Shifa, one of the petitioners in the hijab case. Shifa claimed that her brother Saif (20), who was in the restaurant at that time, was assaulted after arguments erupted over the issue. Window panes of the restaurant were damaged in the incident.

Sources said that Hyder Ali had recently expressed his view on the hijab issue during a chat with a television reporter. However, it is said that he was not aware that he was being video-graphed. They claimed that an edited version of his statement, with some points taken out of context, was uploaded on social media. Some people who saw the video, visited his restaurant on Monday night to question Hyder Ali. As he was not there, his son Saif was targeted, sources said. Police have identified the person who slapped Saif as Deepak (25). The other accused are Manoj (25) and Sanil Raj (26).

Meanwhile, Shifa tweeted, ''My brother was brutally attacked by a mob. Just because I continue to stand for My #Hijab which is MY RIGHT. Our property were ruined as well. Why?? Can't I demand my right? Who will be their next victim? I demand action to be taken against the Sangh Parivar goons (sic)."

Saffron flag row: Nadda pulls up KSE, Bommai comes to his defence

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

EVEN as BJP national president J P Nadda reportedly reprimanded state RDPR minister K S Eshwarappa over the flag controversy, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai has come to the defence of his cabinet colleague, and is likely to 'convince' the party top brass by providing them complete information about the matter.

Bommai stated that Eshwarappa's statement with regard to the issue was misunderstood. "If the full text of the statement is taken, there was no such thing against the law or was he making any remark insulting the Tricolour. This is clear. The Congress was trying to twist the issue and use it for political gain," the CM alleged.

Nadda, in an interview to a private television channel, had stated that he had spoken to Eshwarappa over phone and pulled him up over his alleged statement that the saffron flag might replace the national flag atop the Red Fort in New Delhi sometime in future. Nadda had stated that the BJP never tolerates any insult to the national flag and they are law-abiding people and nationalists who safeguard the Constitution. Eshwarappa admitted that Nadda had called him up, however, maintaining that the national president might not have received the complete information regarding the issue, and the CM would speak with him.

"Both the CM and Law Minister J C Madhuswamy have answered the Opposition leaders' questions during the session," Eshwarappa told reporters on Tuesday, after calling on Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot at Raj Bhavan. Although there was speculation that the Governor had summoned him, an unfazed Eshwarappa said that it was a pre-scheduled appointment. He went as part of the Kuvempu University syndicate and met the Governor to discuss a matter about it.

Soon after news broke out, Eshwarappa in his first reaction to the media, had stated: "JP Nadda is our national president. We have to listen to him as party workers, which is our duty." Defending himself further, Eshwarappa said that he did not mean that he will hoist a saffron flag, replacing the national flag, but was only replying to KPCC president D K Shivakumar, who had made a false claim that the saffron flag has replaced the national flag at a government school.

Meanwhile, Leader of Opposition in the Legislative Council B K Hariprasad said that merely pulling up Eshwarappa was not enough, as it is an issue related to insulting the national flag. "If they (BJP) are true nationalists, they should remove Eshwarappa from all his posts. We will chalk out a plan to take the next course of our protest," he stated. "Look at the irony- State Government is in a hurry to defend Eshwarappa's anti-national statement, whereas BJP National President JP Nadda has rebuked the same statement. There is clearly a lack of coordination & understanding between the double engine governments(sic)," tweeted Shivakumar.

CONG MEETS GUV, SEEKS ESHWARAPPA'S DISMISSAL

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

Congress leaders, led by CLP leader Siddaramaiah, stage a protest as they walk to Raj Bhavan in Bengaluru on Tuesday | ASHISHKRISHNA HP

OVER 70 Congress MLAs and MLCs, many of whom had staged a day-and-night dharna inside the legislature for five days, marched to Raj Bhavan on Tuesday afternoon and submitted a memorandum seeking the dismissal of RDPR Minister K S Eshwarappa from the cabinet, for his statement on the National Flag. They held placards and chanted slogans seeking Eshwarappa's dismissal, and demanded that he be booked for sedition.

They urged Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot to institute a judicial inquiry into the arson and rioting in Shivamogga, and informed him that Eshwarappa had participated in the funeral procession of murder victim and Bajrang Dal worker Harsha in a communally surcharged atmosphere.

Siddaramaiah told the media, "The Congress has protested in the legislature for five days. We have approached the governor and submitted a memorandum, seeking action be taken against K S Eshwarappa, and sought his dismissal. The Congress will go to the people and tell them how he has insulted the National Flag.''

Cops grilling 6 accused separately

THE SP said that while the criminal background of four of the accused has been verified, that of the other two is being checked. "We are interrogating all the six accused separately to ascertain the motive for the murder," he said.

"We have collected evidence and some information from eyewitnesses," he added.

Meanwhile, sources in the Home Department said that the role of organisations, logistic support, shelter and funding, if any, are also under investigation. On the ground, top police officers including ADGPs Prathap Reddy and S Murugan, three Superintendents of Police, including Shivamogga SP B M Laxmi Prasad, one Additional SP and 12 Deputy SPs are overseeing maintenance of law and order.

The Home Department had on Monday rushed 212 inspectors and sub-inspectors from different parts of the state to Shivamogga as they had earlier worked in the city.

Personnel from 20 KSRP units, 10 DAR units and one RAF unit are deployed across the city.

"As of now, we have adequate personnel to ensure peace in the city," SP Laxmi Prasad said. The police and RAF personnel barricaded residential areas in the old parts of the city and were seen questioning people. Heavy security was also provided around the residence of Harsha.

Main roads including AA Circle, BH Road, Bus Stand, Nehru Road, Balraj Urs Road, Sir MV Road, Gandhi Bazaar and other commercial areas were barricaded and business establishments were closed due to the curfew. Many residents who ventured out for essential work had to face inconvenience.

'GANDHI HAD OPPOSED VEIL, BUT WOULD'VE SUPPORTED GIRLS' CHOICE ON HIJAB'

BALA CHAUHAN @Bengaluru

MAHATMA Gandhi, back in 1927, called the veiling of women a "barbarous custom" and one that was "doing incalculable harm to the country" but, "he would have supported the girls (in Karnataka) protesting the ban on hijab, if they chose to wear it", said author, social activist and great grandson of Mahatma Gandhi, Tushar Gandhi. His book 'Let's Kill Gandhi!' was published in 2007 and re-published this year.

Speaking to TNIE on the 78th death anniversary of his great grandmother Kasturba Gandhi, Tushar said, "Gandhi had criticised veiling of women as retrograde and oppressive for women, but he and Ba would have stood by the girls protesting the hijab ban, provided they were convinced the girls were under no coercion to wear the hijab," he said.

"Bapu believed that nothing should be enforced by law. He had opposed the ban on cow slaughter though he was a gau sevak (cow protector) all his life. He had said the cow was like a mother to him, but to many others she was food, so how could he support the ban?" said Tushar.

An old photograph of a younger Mahatma Gandhi and his wife Kasturba Gandhi | EXPRESS

On the growing communal divide following the hijab row, he said, "Gandhi would have been deeply pained at the hate and communal disharmony in the country. He believed that India would remain a secular country. If he was not assassinated, he would have taken Hindus from India to Pakistan to establish their rights on the land where they had lived for generations and were forced to move out after Partition. He had said he would bring back Muslims to India, who had been uprooted during Partition. He had planned to travel to Pakistan in February 1948, but unfortunately, that was not to be. Imagine the miracle that would have unfolded if he had lived and succeeded," said Tushar.

He said Kasturba Gandhi was a woman of substance. "We must understand that in those times, the roles given to women were regressive. But Ba stood by her beliefs. She followed her husband but on her own terms. She supported him after she was convinced about the commitment he had made. She was the enabler. Gandhi would not have been able to achieve what he did without Ba's contribution. He acknowledged it after she passed away. We fail to see her legacy because it got merged with Bapu's iconic stature," said Tushar. His book 'The Lost Diary of Kastur, my Ba' is soon to be published.

Kasturba died on February 22, 1944, at the detention camp at Aga Khan Palace in Pune in the presence of her husband. A six-episode biography podcast https://pod.link/kastur done with Tushar by Ashraf Engineer on Kasturba was released on her death anniversary.

DMK supporters celebrate after civic poll results were announced in Chennai on Tuesday | P JAWAHAR

Stalin conquers TN local polls

Alliance emerges victorious in 21 corp

B ANBUSELVAN @ Chennai

THE DMK-led United Progressive Alliance (UPA) registered a landslide victory in the urban local bodies election on Tuesday, emerging victorious in all 21 corporations. The alliance has crossed the simple majority mark of 50 per cent of ward member posts in 130 municipalities as well as 350 town panchayats. Polls to the 138 municipalities, 489 town panchayats, 21 corporations were held on February 19. In the last urban civic polls, held in 2011, the then ruling AIADMK won in all 10 corporations.

Ecstatic DMK cadres and functionaries thronged the party's headquarters in Chennai, bursting crackers and distributing sweets to passersby. Slogans hailing Chief Minister MK Salin and the late party patriarch M Karunanidhi rent the air. Significantly, the DMK alliance has usurped the AIADMK's traditional stronghold in western TN where it has lost all 10 Assembly seats in 2021. Observers attributed the party's success to a good public response to the performance of Stalin's government.

Addressing reporters later in the day, Stalin, who campaigned highlighting the party's stance on national issues, said the outcome of the elections stood testament to the Dravidian model of governance adopted by the government over the last nine months.

"We are not arrogant because of the victory. I realise that my responsibility has now increased. I will work hard to protect the faith people instilled on me," he said Stalin.

Of the 1,373 wards in 21 corporations, results were available for 13,67 as of 9pm. While the DMk alliance won in 1,100 wards, the AIADMK won in 164.

In the 3824 wards across 138 municipalities, the ruling alliance won in 2,666 or 70 per cent of the wards and is expected to secure 110 to 120 of the chairperson posts. Similarly, candidates of the alliance won 5009 (65%) ward member posts out of the 7621 for which results were declared at 9pm.

The AIADMK won in 368 and 1,206 wards in municipalities and town panchayats respectively.

Pinarayi fears Lok Ayukta verdict: Opposition

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ T'Puram

THE LDF government is attempting to weaken the powers of the Lok Ayukta through an Ordinance as it is fearful of the outcome of four cases against CM Pinarayi Vijayan which is before the anti-corruption watchdog, said Opposition leader V D Satheesan in the assembly on Tuesday. Satheesan's allegation came ahead of an Opposition walkout protesting the denial of permission by the Speaker to discuss the implications of the promulgation of an Ordinance to amend the Lok Ayukta Act.

He questioned the CM why he was so fearful about the outcome of Lok Ayukta cases. He also alleged that Pinarayi, who once extolled the virtues of anti-corruption watchdog in an article has now brought out an Ordinance to make it toothless. Besides, former Minister K T Jaleel has been tasked with tarnishing the reputation of the Lok Ayukta that was appointed by the then LDF government. "It is fear that rules the chief minister," Satheesan said.

The Opposition leader said the government has not responded as to why it was in a hurry to promulgate the Ordinance on the eve of the commencement of the Assembly session. No discussion was held in the cabinet or within the LDF prior to the move.

Satheesan also trained his guns on Law Minister P Rajeeve for calling the Lok Ayukta Act unconstitutional. He said that only the court has the authority to examine the constitutional validity of a legislation.

HC seeks report on 141 kids missing from government institutions

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

ACTING on a public interest litigation filed on the whereabouts of 141 children on 420 crimes registered about missing children from government Child Care Institutions from 2015 to 2021, the Karnataka High Court on Tuesday directed the state government to submit a status report of the investigation done to trace them.

A division bench of Chief Justice Ritu Raj Awasthi and Justice Suraj Govindaraj passed the order after issuing notice to the additional chief secretaries of the departments of Home and Women and Child Development, Director of Integrated Child Development Scheme (ICDS) and Director General and Inspector General of Police.

Advocate S Umapathi, representing the petitioner KC Rajanna from Kolar, argued that the government failed to trace the missing children from the government-owned Child Care Institutions (CCI).

He argued that the petitioner obtained information under the Right to Information Act which shows that out of 420 crimes registered between October 2015 and October 2021, about 141 children were not traced by the police department.

The petitioner sought directions to the state to submit the status of 141 untraced children and also establish special 'Child Police Stations'.

Man kills mother-in-law, wife, surrenders

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

A 48-year-old bakery owner killed his wife and mother-in-law suspecting his wife's fidelity. The incident took place in Govindarajanagar on Moodalapalya Road on Tuesday morning and the accused surrendered before the police along with the murder weapon.

The deceased are Sunitha (38), a homemaker, and her mother Sarojamma (65). The accused is Kumar V. The family hails from Thirthahalli in Shivamogga and had come to the city a few years ago. Sarojamma was staying in NR Colony.

A senior police officer said Kumar came to the house at 10 am after dropping his two children to school and picked a fight with his wife accusing her of having an illicit relationship. He then grabbed a machete and hacked his wife and mother-in-law to death. He then went to the police.

Cops kidnapped Chetan, says wife

THE actor was produced before a magistrate and further investigation is on. The actor had been reportedly warned by senior police officers not to make any comments on the hijab row.

Meanwhile, Chetan's wife Megha came out on social media alleging that Chetan had been "kidnapped" by the police and no legal procedures were followed — like issuing him a notice — before he was taken to Seshadripuram police station, even as his mobile remained switched off. She also tried to contact Chetan's gunman, but his phone too remained switched off, she alleged. She said that she was not informed.

Speaking to TNIE, senior advocate S Balan said, "The arrest is not as per law and the police have violated the SC's directives. The Cyber Crime police have to verify the Twitter account and comments before filing a case. But here, the law and order police have registered a case and I don't know what is their interest and intention. No official staff or court registrar has filed any complaint about his tweets"

ECONOMIC CRISIS LOOMS LARGE AS WAR CLOUDS ENVELOP UKRAINE

Just when the global economy seemed to be stepping out of the iron grip of the pandemic and supply chain bottlenecks, a looming Russian invasion of Ukraine has sent a new set of shivers. There was slow optimism that a Joe Biden-Vladimir Putin summit may ensure that Kremlin backs off from the borders of Ukraine. That was not to be. In an unexpected Monday evening about-turn, Putin announced he was recognising the two breakaway regions of eastern Ukraine, Donetsk and Luhansk. The next step could be Russian forces, honouring their 'friendship' treaty with the Donbas republics, entering Ukraine territory to secure the new borders. Even a limited war will send oil prices spiralling from the current high of over $90 a barrel. For India, which imports around 80% of its oil needs, this spells disaster.

The global impact of the Ukraine crisis will depend on how far Putin is prepared to go. Does he see the annexation of the Donbas region as a limited goal to ensure that Ukraine keeps out of NATO? Or does he drive his troops all the way to Kyiv to ensure there is a new regime sympathetic to Russian interests? Kremlin is egged on by the fact that the West-EU response, despite all the bluster, is limited to economic sanctions against any investment by Americans in the breakaway republics.

A war in Ukraine will bear down on two important areas—higher food and energy prices. On both these segments, it is the poor that spend a disproportionately high percentage of their income. Russia produces about 13% of the world's crude and supplies about 40% of Europe's natural gas. On the food front, 40% of Europe's wheat comes from Russia. A prolonged encounter in Ukraine will send oil and food prices spiralling. For investors, the world markets are already taking a knocking, and an all-out war will freeze investment and growth. Though India has cut back on Russian arms imports, Moscow is still at the top. India and others must do all they can to ensure that the war clouds over Europe recede quickly.

SELECTION OF TEAM INDIA LOGICAL

On Saturday, the senior selection committee put in place the foundation for the Test team going forward. The panel led by Chetan Sharma waved their goodbye to players with 11,644 runs across 177 games. To be honest, it was coming. Both Cheteshwar Pujara and Ajinkya Rahane have a lot of experience but they have not been at their best recently. The two of course are good enough to make a comeback with big performances in the domestic circuit. That Ishant Sharma and Wriddhiman Saha also don't find a place is an indication that the management wants to accelerate the transition phase. With more players on the wrong side of 30—five of the 18 players in the squad for the Sri Lanka series are 33 or over—the management knows it has a tough task on its hands to refresh the playing group.

It's perhaps the right time to move away from the likes of Pujara and Rahane because of the calendar. In the next 13 months or so, India is slated to play only one Test away from the subcontinent (eight of nine Tests at home or in Bangladesh). So experimenting against a Sri Lankan side that has been quite tentative in Tests of late seems logical. This is the ideal time to bring in the likes of Shubman Gill, Shreyas Iyer and Hanuma Vihari, three batters who lead the pecking order to fill those two slots. With Rishabh Pant as the principal option, there is also some sense in trying to bring a younger wicketkeeper into the fold than asking Saha, who is 37, to warm the bench. Ishant may feel hard done by but pacers are dime a dozen and with India unlikely to field more than two in a match in the subcontinent, there is again sound logic behind that decision.

The calendar is also likely to have dictated Rohit's ascension to captaincy in Tests. He is 34 and being an all-format captain is a draining proposition. But with no away series in the pipeline, the opener is a solid short-term option while the likes of Jasprit Bumrah and Pant develop into leadership roles.

We need leaders who are analytical in approach and at home with the latest technology, along with a heart filled with empathy and a deep caring for society

NEW LEADERSHIP MODELS IN THE POST-COVID WORLD

SOUMYADIP SINHA

CHANDRAJIT BANERJEE

Director General, Confederation of Indian Industry

Leadership has always taken the centre stage in any crisis situation and this has been most amplified during the black-swan pandemic event that the world is undergoing. As we gradually emerge from the restrictions imposed in response to the coronavirus, multi-faceted changes are simultaneously underway.

I have always been a proponent of distributed leadership and was happy to see it take roots. We saw many instances of greatness and most of all tremendous agility and resilience that has always been the hallmark of humankind. Whether it was healthcare leaders who selflessly devoted their entire energy, scientists who developed new drugs, corporate leaders who adapted to economic restrictions or administrative officials, and even the ordinary person who managed the different predicaments of keeping supply chains moving and workers cared for, inspiring leaders took up the challenges of the pandemic. This was the reason that we could surmount the crisis and emerge stronger.

Leadership is a complex issue that does not lend itself well to a cogent definition. The one that I think is the most critical requirement of leaders is doing the right thing when no one knows what needs to be done. I remembered the illustration given by Yuval Noah Harari, where he ascribed the reason for the success of Homo sapiens over the better-endowed Neanderthals to their ability to collaborate, thereby coming back stronger by learning from their mistakes.

Exemplary exercises of collective team efforts cutting across geographies and functions helped in developing vaccines and rolling them out in the shortest possible time. This demonstrated the human spirit of being able to come together, stay together and work together for a common objective. We saw ordinary people donning the role of true superheroes, without being prompted. This spontaneous outpouring of greatness is the true mark of leadership.

Leadership is the unique ability of blending a secret sauce using hardware, software and humanware. The proportions differ in different situations, but the way leaders engage would be different going forward. I think a more humane approach would emerge in the days ahead, where we marry the tech with the touch in a judicious manner.

The value unlocked in overcoming the pandemic-induced constraints will be difficult to give up, so our engagement and way of work have to adapt to newer protocols adjusting to the changing paradigms. This, in a way, helps us to refine the new normal by reviewing the basic tenet of leadership—speak what you think, do what you say and be the person you are. I believe the future belongs to leaders who are comfortable with their vulnerabilities. Being able to open up their insecurities, capable of admitting that we do not always know how to react, is important as it is only then that they can forge diverse collaborations, so critical for coming out with solutions to combat the challenges optimally.

Let me share some of the pointers I see emerging out of this experience that would define our leadership journey going forward.

First, a thorough analysis of crisis always helps in eliminating some long-held beliefs and is a good way of getting rid of redundancies. It is believed that a leader needs to be with the team, in a high-touch environment, in order to ideate better and execute well. However, while spending months physically away from team members, adopting newer technology enablers and most importantly, being able to think deeply helped leaders adapt to and create a completely new way of work. Collaboration has and would always remain the order of the day, but the manner in which we do it has transformed forever. I envisage a simpler world where we need to be more mindful of what is really required as there is little chance of returning back to the suboptimality that we have bid goodbye to.

> Collaboration has and would always remain the order of the day, but the manner in which we do it has transformed forever. I envisage a simpler world where we need to be more mindful of what is really required

Second, humane values have always been the bedrock for leaders. This is expected to get amplified as we see a world where nobody is safe unless everybody is safe. This credo is going to gain more currency and great institutions would be measured by the value they create beyond their walls. The community aspect of leadership is going to emerge as the key. Leaders always move communities; their ability to take divergent groups towards a common goal would come into sharper focus.

Third, sustainability would take up a new meaning graduating beyond the narrow aspect of environment, to embrace the social aspect of it. CII was a pioneer of imagining a different India with our India@75 initiative that started under the tutelage of visionary Professor C K Prahalad in 2007. Under this campaign, many programmes have commenced for sustainability, social empowerment, technology and economic growth as a whole that CII has led, including through a strong volunteer programme. Innovation, skilling, start-ups and social compact are just some of the initiatives that are going to emerge as the fountainheads for newer leadership and ways in which leaders engage with their environment.

Finally, in this globalised world, geography is fast becoming history, but I strongly believe that today technology offers us the opportunity of also being hyperlocal. For example, Indian business integrates with the world while maintaining its strong local roots.

To conclude, within the emerging scenario, I would ideally like to see leadership models to emerge, evolve better governance protocols and embrace development philosophies. Models that are rooted in the Indian psyche and homegrown would guide us to another idea on leadership, that of right and relevant models of leadership.

The dawn of a new type of leadership will evolve going ahead, that is analytical in approach and at home with the latest technology, with a heart filled with empathy and a deep caring for society. Profits with a purpose would be the credo of industry as it evolves a humane face to lead the new post-Covid world.

COURTS SHOULD HOLD INDIAN MUSEUMS TO ACCOUNT

S VIJAY KUMAR

Co-founder, India Pride Project, and author of The Idol Thief

Today we look at a serious issue with regard to the conduct of our Indian museums as custodians of our valuable heritage. We show how a museum in Kolkata is indulging in a cover-up of theft of a valuable artefact in its collection despite the overwhelming evidence provided—even though the current custodians are willing to restitute the bronze.

First, let us look at the role of museums as discussed in a very important case—the theft of Rabindranath Tagore's Nobel Prize from Kolkata—that was argued and sadly disposed of after 15 years with no proper closure. The petition in the Supreme Court covered the 2004 theft of historical artefacts of Tagore, kept in the museum of Visva-Bharati University in West Bengal's Santiniketan, of which the PM is the chancellor. It also refers to the stealing of golden coins from the Asiatic Society in Kolkata in 1990 and a 1984 theft from the Nandan Art Gallery of Visva-Bharati.

The PIL by Subhas Datta was "on the issue of protection of historical objects preserved at different places in the country, particularly in various museums". The petition called for "a direction for adequate security arrangements and for proper investigation into the incidents of theft and damage to several historical objects and also for making an inventory of available articles for future". The case gained wide publicity and due to its impact, was enlarged to include various institutions apart from the initial respondent in the petition—the HRD ministry. The heads of institutions such as the New Delhi National Museum, Archaeological Survey of India, National Gallery of Modern Art and Kolkata's Indian Museum were impleaded as parties by an order of the court.

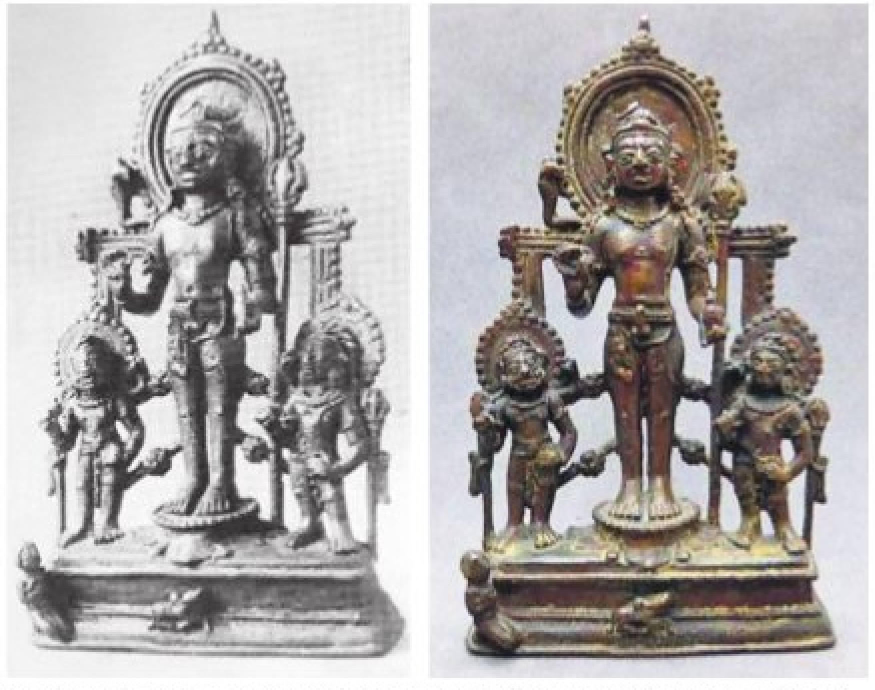
The arguments commenced with a brief that emphasised the seriousness of the role of these custodians. Article 49 of the Constitution says that "it shall be the obligation of the state to protect every monument … or object of artistic or historic interests, declared by or under law made by Parliament to be of national importance, from … destruction, removal, disposal or export …". Article 51A(f) notes there is a fundamental duty to "value and preserve the rich heritage of our composite culture". So, as pointed out, "there should be a proper inventory of all historical objects preserved at different centres and such inventory should be kept at a central place under the Government of India" along with periodic stocktaking by an independent agency. The Ancient Monuments Preservation Act, 1904, requires proper preservation of objects of historical or artistic interest. The judgment notes that a reference was also made to Prevention of Damage of Public Property Act, 1984 "to state that any damage to public property is national loss".

The apex court noted that "the preservation of the rich heritage and culture of the country is a constitutional mandate". It also pointed out that India had ratified the UNESCO Convention on the means of Prohibiting and Preventing the Illicit Import, Export and Transfer of Ownership of Cultural Property. "The International Council of Museums (ICOM) has issued guidelines for disaster preparedness in museums, which are well known to those concerned with the management of museums. The UNESCO in its quarterly journal 'Museum' has suggested measures for security of museum objects in the light of studies undertaken by it," the judgment added.

The custodians of our heritage, in their response, blamed space constraints, manpower shortage and lack of other resources. The court said these need to be looked into by the Ministry of Culture and other authorities and that an appropriate monitoring mechanism needs to be put in place. To ensure safekeeping of our valuable heritage, it said requisite funds need to be allocated.

"In view of assurance of learned additional solicitor general and other counsel for the respondents, it may not be necessary to give any specific direction at this stage. There is no reason to doubt the stand of the Central government and the other respondents that all necessary steps will be taken and reviewed from time to time. This court expects that the Secretary, Ministry of Culture will review the matter and take such necessary steps … within one month … . Thereafter, review meetings may be held at least once in every six months to consider further course of action. If any grievance survives, it will be open to any aggrieved person to take legal remedies in accordance with law," the SC verdict said.

With the above observations, the 2004 petition was disposed of in 2015. Till now, neither have all the stolen artefacts been recovered nor adequate security measures fully adopted. The updating of inventory and its cross-checking never happened and in this article, we expose this with a startling instance where a documented bronze from Kolkata's Asutosh Museum has found its way into the Ashmolean Museum, Oxford. The UK museum is willing to return the bronze but the Indian museum management refuses to accept the theft!



(L) Photo of a 10th century CE Shiva bronze from Kolkata's Asutosh Museum published in a book by Lalit Kala Akademi; (R) the bronze was stolen and is now in a UK museum

The 10th century CE Standing Shiva with attendants (Chandrasekhara, Bengal bronze) was till the 1980s in Asutosh Museum as can be seen from a photo of the idol in the book Eastern Indian Bronzes published by the Lalit Kala Akademi in 1986. It has currently been traced to the Ashmolean Museum. We understand that researchers with the Ashmolean had initiated the process of restitution based on the evidence at hand. But the process has now hit a roadblock as Asutosh Museum does not want to acknowledge that the idol has been stolen. It is pertinent to note that the Kolkata museum has been without a curator since 2002. The last curator was embroiled in a police case and no one has been appointed as a replacement for the past two decades. Doesn't the government have a duty to act as per the Constitution and bring the Shiva idol back home?

Karnataka situation grim

This is with reference to the editorial Gruesome murder keeps Karnataka on the boil (Feb 22). It is unfortunate that the hijab row may lead the state to the brink of conflagration. The decision of the Karnataka High Court is eagerly awaited to help the state that is trapped in this grim situation.

An org for strategic info

This is with reference to Information threats to India's security (Feb 22). The article has succinctly pointed out the importance of the topic with three examples on the contemporary employment of technologies in the information domain. It is time we look at a National Strategic Communication Authority, an organisation with a multi-disciplinary presence.

Murder politics continues

The gruesome murder of a CPM worker in Kannur is the latest addition to the list of political murders in Kerala (CPM worker hacked to death in Kannur, RSS men detained, Feb 22). Killings are done to tally the numbers. It is a disgrace that in spite of all the possible efforts, the murder politics is still continuing with about an average of one or two murders per month.

Fulfil election promises

The landslide victory of the DMK in the local body polls is not an unexpected one. Election victories by the ruling party either in the by-election or local polls is not a new phenomenon in Tamil Nadu. During the campaign, the promises of the candidates were at their peak and now the people's expectations are very high. They, therefore, must be corruption-free and work doubly hard to utilise the funds earmarked for laying roads and providing safe drinking water.

E Rajamani Chelladurai, Tirunelveli

Criminalisation of politics

The details of candidates with criminal records (Clean candidates a myth in poll arena, Feb 22) paints a very disturbing picture in the reader's mind. The list shows that up to 71% of candidates given tickets by political parties have criminal backgrounds. In such a situation, how can the common voter expect clean governance? No wonder that elections today are contested and won on money power. The candidates see the election expenses as an investment and intend to obtain the amount back during the five-year period of their rule.

NSE INVESTIGATION PART-I

WHO'S the mysterious Yogi, Siddha Purusha, Paramahamsa who ran the National Stock Exchange (NSE) of India through emails to NSE head Chitra Ramakrishna? This critical question, which can be the key to open the monumental frauds buried by the NSE, is left open in the probe by the Securities Exchange Board of India (SEBI) — despite leads available to it. Worse still, the SEBI probe has reduced the fraudulent proxy control of NSE by outsiders, possibly by the infamous cabal that had captured the NSE, into merely a corporate governance issue. The NSE's history, even the SEBI is aware, is steeped in huge frauds. The current Chitra deceit in sheer numbers is just a tiny part of the NSE shenanigans — in which she had had a prominent role in the past — believed to be in lakhs of crores. Unless seen as a sequence of the NSE's fraudulent history, the present Chitra fraud will look pale.

NSE snakepit under cabal

The NSE, with a market capitalisation of ₹255 lakh crore, more than the nominal GDP of India, has been an endless pit of venomous snakes since the days of P Chidambaram (PC), the lilywhite dhoti-clad finance minister – something too well-known in financial and regulatory circles for simple denial. How the NSE stood captured by PC and his cabal was exposed by two leading books, neither challenged. One, by Sucheta Dalal and Debashish Basu in their book Absolute Power (2021) detailing regulatory capture of SEBI by the cabal and the co-location (COLO) scam. Second, by Palak Shah's Market Mafia whose subtitle "Chronicle of India's high-tech stock market scandal and the cabal that went scot-free" told all. The cabal close to PC, according to the authors, had the SEBI and NSE under their thumb. PC himself was a huge punter in stocks through benamis. A former chairman of SEBI even told Manmohan Singh about it. But like in every other case, Manmohan Singh remained silent. The NSE cabal backed by PC was so powerful that they locked up the SEBI officials, who went for a probe, inside a room. A livid SEBI chief Damodaran thrashed Ravi Narain, then NSE Chief and Chitra, his deputy, over phone. (Absolute Power p204) The high-tech COLO scam involved allowing select stock brokers on the premises of the NSE — like allowing thieves into a police station. That was where the NSE cabal and select brokers mixed up and defrauded millions of investors. The SEBI half-found the scam suspected to be in lakhs of crores and left the NSE with a measly fine of ₹625 crore. But, thanks to a public interest litigation, the COLO scam is under investigation by the CBI under Delhi High Court orders in 2018. The CBI, which dragged its feet for years, has become active after the SEBI brought out the Chitra fraud. Now move on to the latest Chitra-NSE fraud.

The unknown other half is about who the mysterious person is. Unveiling him will be the climax of not just the Chitra part of NSE saga, but expose far more than that

Known and unknown

The core dramatis personae in the ongoing Chitra-NSE saga are two. One, too well known. The other, totally unknown. The known actor — or actress — was the famous, now infamous, Chitra, the highest paid Indian woman executive, most celebrated leader of the Indian securities market till 2016, honoured with the 2013 Business Leadership Award by Forbes magazine. The unknown actor is a mysterious player who describes himself as "Sironmani" and who, Chitra reveres, as a "Yogi", "Siddha Purusha", "Paramahamsa" all rolled into one. There are some side actors too. The story half unveiled by SEBI findings stands still at an interval. The unknown other half is about who the mysterious person is. Unveiling him will be the climax of not just the Chitra part of the NSE saga, but expose far more than that. The SEBI without police powers of arrest, custodial interrogation and more, has done its best so far. But has it followed all the leads that were available? Seems not.

Dematerialised Yogi

In her present fraudulent case, Chitra first told SEBI, in April 2018, that she had met the Siddha Purusha (let us call him 'SP') in Swami Malai Temple in Delhi and many holy places. She said the 'SP' might be living in the Himalayan ranges, claiming he was the spiritual force guiding her for over 20 years. But when asked to identify who 'SP' was, she changed her storyline and claimed that the Yogi did not have a physical personae. Like the dematerialised shares she is familiar with, could turn materialised, she said the (dematerialised) 'SP' could materialise himself at will! She asserted that his spiritual powers do not require him to have any such physical coordinates. With her exotic logic Chitra landed SEBI in confusion on whether 'SP' is dematerialised Yogi or Physical Bhogi. Whatever he was, 'SP' was having and using a mail id — rigjyajursama@outlook.com to guide Chitra. Though not, as Chitra says, in material form himself, 'SP' obviously needed a computer in material form with wifi connection to guide her from remote locations. Note the email id — rigyajursama — is the adjunction of the noble Rig, Yajur and Sama, the three Vedas. All frauds look for noble cover. Now read on for the more interesting part of the story.

Yogi materialises in Holy Seychelles

"Today you are looking awesome. You must learn different ways to plait your hair which will make your hair interesting and appealing. Just a free advice, I know you will grab this. Keep Mid March a bit free." — This is an email to Chitra dated Feb 18, 2015 celebrating and contributing ideas to improve her looks. "Keep bags ready. I am planning to travel to Seychelles next month. will try if you can come with me, before Kanchan goes to London with Kanchana and Bhargava and you to New Zealand with two children. HK is the preferred transit or Singapore for onward journey. In case you need help please let me know. Seshu will do the needful. If you know swimming then we could enjoy swimming and sea bath in Seychelles. I am asking my tour operator to connect with Kanchan for all our tickets." — This is an email dated a day earlier, Feb 17, 2015, inviting Chitra for "swimming" and "sea bath" in Seychelles. "I overheard with Kanchan when you said lets pack and leave, Get ready countdown starts now I accommodate for Seychelles where you can chill it out." — This email is dated a week later, Feb 25, 2015 inviting Chitra for a "chillout". "I am on a trip to India and in Delhi on 7th and 8th March and will be happy to meet on any of these two dates at your convenience. Since 7th will be a tight schedule. Will March 8th forenoon work? We will meet Vasant Vihar at my Delhi Office. Looking forward to hearing from you." This email is dated Mar 2, 2015 – a week later to the previous, asking to meet Chitra in Delhi. "Did you hear that Makara Kundala song I sent? You must hear the resonance of that iterations. I am happy to see cheer on your face and absolutely from your heart. I did rejoice the time yesterday with you. These small things you did for yourself make you feel younger and energetic." – This energising email to Chitra is dated Sep 16, 2015, months later.

The dematerialised Yogi materialises to her not in the holy Himalayas, Kashi, or Prayag, but in Seychelles, Singapore, Hong Kong and Delhi

Who sent these titillating emails to Chitra? Any guesses? It is 'SP', the Yogi. The dematerialised Yogi materialises to her not in the holy Himalayas, Kashi, or Prayag, but in Seychelles, Singapore, Hong Kong and Delhi. The lady's secretary mails to 'SP' on March 2, "Ms. Ramkrishna will be pleased to meet you on Sunday, March 08, 2015. As regards the time and venue for the meeting we will touch base with you." Does one need a seer to say that the lady the Forbes magazine celebrated as the Business Leader of 2013 is a prevaricating fraud?

Not just fun, but more

Clearly the mysterious 'SP' – or the remote one behind him – is no saffron-clad Yogi, but a dhoti- or suit-clad bhogi who wants to swim, have a sea bath and chill out with Chitra, but does not stop at that. Their rendezvous is not just fun loving chilling out in Seychelles. It goes far beyond fun, possibly into doing something far more serious and purposeful to continue the cabal's control over the NSE. But why did the Forbes' Woman of the Year Awardee and highest-paid woman executive in India take instructions like a school student to manage the NSE? The answer is that the cabal which ran the SEBI and the NSE favoured her with the top post by a process like inheritance even without an advertisement (Absolute Power p164). How could Chitra, favoured by the cabal, be independent of it?

Do the emails then testify to the continuing cabal control of the NSE as before 2014, even after the government that promoted and protected them was dethroned in Delhi? Did the SEBI probe dwarf the fraudulent outside control of the NSE, possibly by the infamous cabal that had captured and dominated the NSE, into just an issue of breach of corporate governance? For answer to the questions, await the next part — Cabal ran the NSE by fake Yogi mails even after 2014?

India's first lot of wheat leaves for Afghanistan

CHANDIGARH: The first consignment of 2,500 tonnes of wheat from India for Afghanistan was dispatched via the Attari border on Tuesday.

Fifty trucks from Afghanistan carried the wheat back home as part of India's humanitarian assistance of providing 50,000 tonnes of wheat to the war-torn country. The foodgrains being delivered are of Rabi Market Season 2020-21 in 50-kg jute bags and the shelf-life of the wheat is a minimum of one year from the date of dispatch.

The assistance, which will be delivered in multiple consignments, will be handed over to the United Nations World Food Program (WFP) in Jalalabad, Afghanistan.

''We are extending our humanitarian assistance to Afghanistan in the form of 50,000 tonnes of wheat. We are flagging off the first consignment today,'' Foreign Secretary Harsh V Shringla said after flagging off the convoy of grain laden trucks. ''India remains committed to its special relationship with the people of Afghanistan. In this endeavour, India has already supplied 500,000 doses of Covaxin, 13 tons of essential life-saving medicines and 500 units of winter clothing.''

The Afghanistan ambassador appreciated the gesture of New Delhi. ''India has always come forward to help Afghanistan. Our relations have a long history. ... As per WFP, 20 million people require food in Afghanistan. India being a big brother is helping us through food aids and we are thankful for that,'' Mamundzay said. ''We were in great need of foodgrains in November and December, but Pakistan took a long time to allow the use of its land route.'' Harpreet Bajwa

Buzz over being Oppn's Prez nominee, but Nitish says no

RAJESH THAKUR/RAMASHANKAR @ New Delhi/Patna

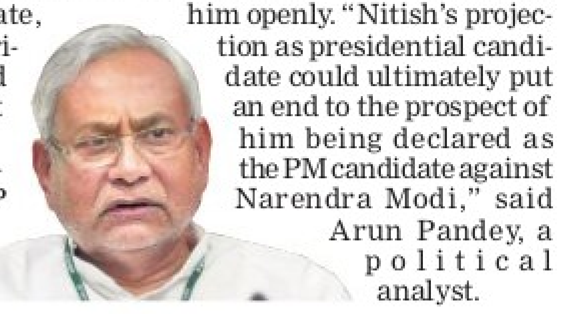
A couple of days after Nitish Kumar dined with political strategist Prashant Kishor in Delhi, a buzz has been swirling around the corridors of power in the national capital as well as Bihar: Nitish is being considered as the opposition's Presidential candidate.

However, Nitish on Tuesday ruled it out. "Is baat me dam nahi hai (It doesn't carry substance)," he said in Patna. The grapevine is that Prashant Kishor has started lobbying among key opposition parties for Nitish's candidature.

Though Kishor has not responded, insiders say the speculation cannot be dismissed as "making castles in the air."

At a rally in Purnia on November 6, 2020, Nitish had announced that it was his last assembly election campaigning. Many JD-U leaders suggest that "if his name is speculated for the presidential candidate from the opposition side, it should not be rejected so early."

"I don't know whether it is a speculation, but Nitish Kumar is the most able leader for this post," said senior JD-U leader Shravan Kumar. While Bihar Congress working president Sameer Singh said Nitish was a deserving candidate, RJD spokesperson Mrityunjay Tiwary said "the BJP would not let it happen."



Deputy chief minister and senior BJP leader Tarkishor Prasad said there was no such vacancy in the near future.

Sources said if there is no consensus, then others such as K Chandrasekhar Rao or Sharad Pawar could be considered.

NCP spokesperson Nawab Malik told the media that Nitish could be considered if he snapped ties with the BJP.

There is another logic being cited in support of Nitish, which is if he were to be projected as the presidential candidate, the BJP would not oppose him openly. "Nitish's projection as presidential candidate could ultimately put an end to the prospect of him being declared as the PM candidate against Narendra Modi," said Arun Pandey, a political analyst.

Panel gets 2 more months for redrawing poll map

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Centre on Tuesday extended the Jammu & Kashmir Delimitation Commission's term by two months to complete its task of redrawing electoral constituencies in the Union Territory.

Formed in March 2020, the panel was granted a one-year extension last year. The term was to end on March 5. After receiving suggestions from five associate members on February 14, the panel is expected to put the draft working paper on delimitation in the coming days.

"In exercise of powers conferred by Section 3 of the Delimitation Act 2002 (33 of 2002), the central government hereby makes the further amendment of two months in the notification of GoI in the Ministry of Law and Justice (Legislative department no So-1015(e) dated 6th March 2020. In the notification in paragraph two for the words 'two years', the words 'two years and two months' shall be substituted," read a notification.

In its suggestions, the National Conference demanded restoration of previous arrangement for Anantnag LS seat. It maintained that there were question marks over the Constitutional propriety of the panel especially when stakeholders had approached the Supreme Court challenging the Centre's action of revoking the special status of J&K.

Govt blocks apps, social accounts linked with SFJ

New Delhi: The I&B Ministry has ordered blocking of mobile apps, website, and social media accounts of 'Punjab Politics TV' allegedly having close links with Sikhs For Justice (SFJ). Reasoning the action, the ministry states that the organisation had been declared unlawful under the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act. According to the ministry, the contents of the blocked apps, website, and social media accounts had the potential to incite communal disharmony and separatism among others.

GOVT'S MAJOR INFRA PUSH ALONG LAC

RICHA SHARMA @ New Delhi

IN a big infrastructure push along the India-China border, especially in areas of recent flashpoints in Ladakh, Arunachal Pradesh and Sikkim, a panel of the union environment ministry has recommended over a dozen projects for construction of roads in border areas and security outposts for strengthening security and vigil.

The Standing Committee of National Board for Wildlife, in a recent meeting, cleared a proposal by the Border Roads Organisation (BRO) for the use of 188.392 hectare of land from Changthang Wildlife Sanctuary in Ladakh for construction of a 96 km road from Hanle to Chumar. The proposal was recommended by the Ladakh chief wildlife warden keeping in mind strategic importance for movement of security forces.

The ministry is on a spree to clear projects related to upgradation of border infrastructure along the LAC.

Another proposal for the use of 58.49 hectare of forest land from Dibang Wildlife Sanctuary for construction of Dembuen-Bruni Road in Arunachal Pradesh's Dibang Valley was recommended "to provide access to India-China border and its important from defence point of view", according to the minutes of meeting accessed by this newspaper.

The panel recommended over 30 proposals for construction of Border Outposts (BOPs) by ITBP and road passing through Changthang and Karakoram sanctuaries in Ladakh.

Diversion of forest land from Changthang for Demchok, Umlingzing and Koyul BOP was also recommended by the panel. Several projects for construction of BOPs by the Sashastra Seema Bal in Sikkim's Barsey Rhododendron Sanctuary were given nod to facilitate Army movement to guard the India-Nepal border efficiently.

Similarly, the projects for improvement of road infrastructure in Sikkim's Doklam region were also approved. The proposal is for diversion of forest land from Pangolakha Wildlife Sanctuary for improvement and widening of roads by BRO.

Why it is strategic

Even though disengagement at various places has taken place, the India-China standoff continues at Hot Spring, Depsang and Demchok

Army commander meets troops in Galwan Valley

NEW DELHI: Newly appointed Northern Army commander Lieutenant General Upendra Dwivedi visited the forward areas of Eastern Ladakh during his maiden tour of the region which began on Monday.

His forward area visit also included the location of Galwan the pictures of which have been released on social media.

"Lt Gen Upendra Dwivedi, Army Commander in Chief Northern Command, visited ground zero at forward areas of the Fire and Fury Corps along LAC to review the security situation," the Army tweeted its message.

He interacted with all ranks of all security forces and appreciated the professionalism & operational response towards the evolving threat matrix, added the Army

Galwan was the location of a deadly clash which took place in June 2020 between the troops of Indian Army and Chinese PLA.

Sources confirmed that one of the photos released by the Northern Command is of Galwan. Lt Gen Dwivedi also visited Air Force Station in Leh to strengthen and foster mutual cooperation and build platforms to synergise future endeavours, the Army said in a statement. ENS

Pakistan link in explosives of Ludhiana, Delhi, Amritsar on intelligence scanner

NEW DELHI: Central agencies suspect a common Pakistan link in IEDs found in Delhi, Amritsar, and the Ludhiana court blast, according to top sources in the government.

The two consignments of eight IEDs, which were dropped through drones in Punjab last year, were delivered in two parts by Pakistan-based gangster Lakhbir Singh Rode, who was in touch with criminals of Punjab, Haryana, Delhi and UP, intelligence officials suspect.

Sources said that the IED recovered from Delhi's Ghazipur and Seemapuri has a connection with similar consignments used in the Ludhiana court blast in December.

A senior security official said that several alerts were issued from October 2021 to January 2022 after Punjab police seized an IED from Amritsar.

When the intelligence agencies found reliable material pointing to Rode's role, an alert was issued in October followed by several inputs after January 8 when the EC announced elections in five states.

The official pointed out that agencies are examining whether the IEDs from Delhi were actually meant for election-bound Uttar Pradesh as the explosives were seized just a few kilometres away from UP.

Another security official said, "At least three alerts were issued after it was found that eight IED consignments were sent from Pakistan. Punjab, Delhi and UP police were asked to remain extra alert."

The official added that although forensic results of the two IEDs recovered from Delhi are awaited, they are suspecting IEDs found Amritsar and used for Ludhiana court blast were of the same make. ENS

ASSEMBLY ELECTION 2022 DECIDE

Curious case of postal ballots in Goa

Postal ballots votes are crucial in the multi-corner contests in Goa elections that concluded on February 14. Margins are usually very narrow here. Therefore, a few postal ballot votes here and there can change fates. Kishor Naik Goankar, editor of Goan Varta, said all parties are trying to attract postal ballot voters. There are 30,000 of them who can cast their vote by March 8, Results will be out on March 10.

Further relaxations in Covid campaign curbs

In New Delhi, the Election Commission on Tuesday further eased Covid-induced restrictions imposed on campaigning in Assembly polls by allowing road shows with prior permission of district authorities. The commission also eased the restriction of using 50% capacity of the space. Campaigning is on for last three phases of elections in Uttar Pradesh and two phases in Manipur.

In Uttarakhand, Rawat alleges irregularities

Former Uttarakhand Chief Minister and senior Congress leader Harish Rawat has alleged irregularities in voting though postal ballots. He posted a video on social media requesting the Election Commission ro take note. In the video, a man can be seen ticking on several postal ballots. "Does Election Commision want to take cognisance of this?," said Rawat in his social media post.

Fight for BJP to retain prestige

In its Lucknow bastion, ruling party has an edge but local problems may change equations

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

UTTAR Pradesh's capital Lucknow will on Wednesday decide the fate of two prominent ministers and a high-profile former Enforcement Directorate officer, who took VRS last month to test poll waters. This will be Round 4 of the seven-phase Assembly polls.

The ministers are Brajesh Pathak, in the fray from Lucknow Cantt, and Ashutosh Tandon, son of late Lalji Tandon, from Lucknow East. Rajeshwar Singh, former ED joint director, who investigated many high-profile cases, is now a BJP candidate from Sarojininagar.

Lucknow has nine Assembly segments. BJP had won eight of those in 2017. The exception was Mohanlalaganj in the rural pocket of the state capital, which went to the SP.

Local issues along with the 'Modi factor' are playing out prominently. Both Lucknow Cantt and Lucknow East are urban seats with a significant chunk of upper caste voters. Pathak faces three-time corporator Surendra Singh Gandhi alias Raju Gandhi from Samajwadi Party and Anil Pandey from BSP, Tandon is fighting against SP's national spokesperson Anurag Singh Bhadouriya and advocate Ashish Kumar Sinha from BSP.

In 2017, SP had fielded Aparna Yadav, younger daughter-in-law of SP patriarch Mulayam Singh Yadav, from Cantt against the then Congress turncoat Rita Bahuguna Joshi, who had contested on a BJP ticket and won the seat with a comfortable margin of over 33,000 votes.

Aparna is now with BJP and was expecting the nomination from Cantt. Denied a ticket, she is seeking votes for Pathak. Similarly, Rajeshwar Singh is facing Dr Abhishek Mishra, an IIM-Lucknow product and former minister in the SP government. While BSP has fielded Jalis Khan, the Congress has placed its bet on Rudra Daman Singh.

Other BJP candidates to watch out for are Jai Devi from Malihabad (SC), wife of Union minister and BJP MP Kaushal Kishore, and Yogesh Shukla from Bakshi Ka Talab. Similar situation prevails in Mohanlalganj with Amresh Kumar of BJP taking on former SP MP Sushila Saroj.

The SP has fielded strong contenders Ravidas Mehrotra from Lucknow Central, Arman from Lucknow West and Gomti Yadav from Bakshi Ka Talab. Congress has fielded anti-CAA protestor Sadaf Jafar from Lucknow West. Zafar was arrested for his involvement in the stir that turned violent leading to arson in the state capital in December 2019.

Conversations with a cross-section of voters reveals how Lucknow — the city of Nawabs — aspires to chart a new political course or stay the way it is. Diwakar Mishra from Lucknow-North pitches for BJP, saying every issue becomes irrelevant when it comes to the nation. Mishra, professor in a local college, says this is not a normal election. "This will decide the fate of not only UP but also the nation. My vote will go to a party that puts nation first. I can resolve minor issues myself. The government has a bigger task at hand."

Rajneesh Jain dealing in the trade of chikan clothes talks about the losses the industry suffered in the two waves of the pandemic. "Things are improving. We are getting back on track and the government's 'one district, one product' scheme is helping us," says Jain. The chikan business in and around Lucknow is worth over ₹10,000 crore annually.

However, Ajit Sonkar of Lucknow Central is irritated with traffic jams. "No government has been able to resolve it," he says. Sonkar owns a medical store in Qaiserbagh. For Javed Alam of Aminabad, encroachment is a major issue.

Sudhakar Pandey and Vinit Singh of Rajajipuram in Lucknow West feel the elected MLA should be readily available. "During Covid's second wave, oxygen paucity was all around, but the government was present at every doorstep with free medicines and ration. It was commendable," he said.

Malihabad, the hub of mango trade with around 23,589 hectares under mango cultivation, is a reserved seat. The Yadavs, Pasis and Muslims are believed to be the deciding factor. Sitting BJP MLA Jai Devi is facing a tough challenge from Surender Kumar of SP and Jagdish Rawat of BSP.

In Mohanlalganj, another reserve seat, people complain of lack of development. SP, which won the seat in 2017, has an edge again. However, free ration, free power connection, cylinders, houses and toilet facilities have a resonance among voters. With Yadavs counting around 45,000 and SCs 1.25 lakh, voters of Malihabad admit that the BJP has been able to "sensitize" people over Hindutva.

Over 60K cops for 24.5K booths

As many as 800 companies of paramilitary forces and over 60,000 policemen will provide security across 59 Assembly seats of Uttar Pradesh, where elections will be held in the fourth phase on Wednesday. Voting will be held at 13,813 polling stations and 24,580 polling booths in 208 police station areas, from 7 am till 6 pm, across the nine districts of Fatehpur, Banda, Pilibhit, Hardoi, Kheri, Lucknow, Rae Bareli, Sitapur and Unnao. Of the 59 constituencies, three have been categorised as 'sensitive' and 590 localities marked as 'vulnerable'. A total of 137 'pink booths' have been made to motivate women for voting.

BIG FIGHTS: PHASE IV

In a crucial round of polling today, these are the constituencies where the contest is the most intriguing, reports Namita Bajpai

NIGHASAN (LAKHIMPUR KHERI) 2017 | BJP

This constituency hit the headlines on October 3, following the death of four farmers and four others in a case of violence. The SC-dominated seat was won by SP in 2012. BJP's Patel Ramkumar Verma won in 2017. After his death in 2018, his son Shashank won the bypoll for BJP in 2019. BJP is fielding Shashank again. RS Kushwaha is SP's candidate. BSP has fielded Rafi Ahmed Usmani and Congress Atal Shukla. How or if the anger of farmers, especially Sikhs, impacts the outcome has to be seen.

BANGERMAU (UNNAO) 2017 | BJP

Became infamous in 2018 after the 'Makhi rape case'. BJP MLA Kuldeep Sengar was accused of gangrape, convicted and disqualified. In the bypolls, BJP's district president Shrikant Katiyar won, This time, BJP reposed faith in Katiyar. SP has fielded Dr Munna, Congress Arti Bajpai and BSP Ram Kishore Pal. This was a Congress bastion in the past. Was won by BSP, SP before BJP in 2017.

RAE BARELI SADAR 2017 | CONG

Congress president Sonia Gandhi's parliamentary constituency has been dominated by the party since 1989. BJP has never won it. Now, sitting Congress MLA Aditi Singh has switched to BJP and is in fray again. Aditi faces SP's Ram Pratap Yadav, who would try to cash in on a strong presence of Yadavs and Muslims. Congress has fielded Manish Chauhan.

SAROJINI NAGAR (LUCKNOW) 2017 | BJP

Has suddenly become a high-profile constituency. BJP has fielded ex-ED officer Rajeshwar Singh. The party won here for the first time in 2017. BJP has dropped sitting MLA and Yogi cabinet minister Swati Singh. Rajeshwar is believed to have an edge since many opposition leaders have joined BJP. He faces SP's Abhishek Mishra, BSP's Jaleesh Khan and Rudra Daman Singh of Congress.

LUCKNOW CANTT 2017 | BJP

The much coveted seat which is eyed by a number of high-profile BJP aspirants, finally went to law minister Brajesh Pathak. He won from Lucknow Central in 2017 after having crossed over from BSP. This has been a BJP bastion since 1991, with the exception of 2012, when Congress won. Pathak faces an old SP hand and three-time LMC corporator Raju Gandhi. BSP has also fielded a veteran in Anil Pandey, while Congress has opted for Dilpreet Singh, who is depending on the support of a substantial Sikh population.

LUCKNOW EAST 2017 | BJP

Another strong seat for BJP. It has not lost here since 1991. Urban development minister Ashutosh Tandon is eyeing a third straight term. Son of former minister and Lucknow MP Lalji Tandon, he won it for the first time in 2014 in the bypolls. SP spokesperson Anurag Bhadauria, who is known for his green attire, is his main rival. Congress has fielded Manoj Tiwari, the former president of LU Students Union. BSP has chosen a first-timer in Ashish Sinha.

PM says Manipur can become crucial centre of India's trade with East Asia

EXPRESS NES SSERVICE @ Imphal

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday said Manipur can become an important centre of India's trade with East Asian countries by virtue of the "unprecedented" work done on national highway connectivity in the state.

Addressing a rally in Imphal, he said the election-bound state, as well as the entire Northeast, is India's gateway to East Asia. "During the previous government, work on only one national highway project was in progress. Our government is working on 40 such projects. When the highway to connect Myanmar and Thailand will be complete, Manipur will become a centre for trade with East Asia," Modi said.

He said the BJP government has brought Manipur to the country's rail map. After Jiribam was connected by rail, the first goods train chugged into Rani Gaidinlu station in Tamenglong district recently.

BJP workers welcome PM Narendra Modi to Imphal on Tuesday | PTI

"Congress called bandhs and put up blockades before Manipur's fate. But now, every part of Manipur has got relief from them. Bandhs and blockades had affected livelihoods and and caused scarcity of essential items," Modi said.

Congress leader Jairam Ramesh accused the PM of lying. "BJP has effectively shut the doors of Autonomous District Councils by not holding elections for five years. PM made tall claims on bringing railways to Manipur. Truth is, the Congress government completed more than 70% of the project by 2017," he tweeted.

Modi was in UP's Bahraich earlier. He questioned the 'silence' of the Opposition over the verdict on the Ahmedabad blasts and accused the previous SP government of trying to withdraw cases against those involved in terror attacks.

CONSTITUENCY WITH MEMORIES OF NETAJI FEELS HE DIDN'T GET HIS DUE

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Imphal

IBOMCHA Singh of Moirang in Manipur's Bishnupur district is happy and sad at the same time.

He is filled with pride that it was at Moirang the Tricolour was unfurled for the first time on April 14, 1944, by the Indian National Army (INA). He is sad because he feels the country has not given INA's leader Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose his due.

After Prime Minister Narendra Modi unveiled a hologram statue of the freedom fighter in Delhi, Ibomcha was hoping BJP will do more, considering elections in Manipur and Moirang's special place in the history of India's freedom struggle. "Neither BJP nor Congress had anything on Netaji in their election manifestos. I am sad," the middle-aged man said.

Other locals such as Kunjabihari Singh, K Inaocha Singh, Rajen Singh, Babina Devi and Ningthoujam Denny praised the Modi government for installing the hologram statue. At the same time, they insisted the government should do more to recognise Netaji's contributions.

"I feel proud that my shop is next to the INA memorial. Netaji was a great leader who sacrificed his life for us, but the country has not given him his due," Kunjabihari lamented.

Inaocha heard from his grandfather that the locals gave food to INA soldiers when they arrived at Moirang during the Battle of Imphal. "They had come on foot from Burma (Myanmar). The people of Moirang then had no idea if the soldiers were Indians or Japanese, but they fed them well," he said.

Inaocha and Kunjabihari feel the people of India could have given a more fitting tribute to Netaji by celebrating his birthday at every place and institutions.

For tourists visiting Manipur, Moirang is a favoured destination. It was a dream visit to the place for Dr Vinoth Kumar, who came from Kerala. He too felt Netaji did not get his dues. "The present government is doing something, but he deserves more respect," Kumar said.

Denny, who was accompanying Kumar, said, "I get inspired by Netaji's heroics every time I visit the memorial. We Manipuris prefer Netaji to Gandhiji. Our traits are similar to that of Netaji. We should give more credit to Netaji than to Gandhiji," Denny said.

The INA memorial-cum-museum is managed by the Manipur government. Among others, it has a collection of letters, photographs, badges of ranks and other war memorabilia which remind visitors of the sacrifices made by the INA soldiers.

The constituency of Moirang will go to polls in the first phase on February 28. The constituency is ready for a two-way fight between Sharatchandra Singh of Congress and M Prithviraj Singh of BJP. Sharatchandra, the sitting MLA, defected to Congress recently after being denied a ticket by the BJP.

Free Trade Agreement will give a boost to Indo-Israel relations: Envoy

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

INDIA and Israel are in a new phase of relations and are working on a Free Trade Agreement (FTA) that will give a boost to bilateral relations, said Ambassador of Israel to India Naor Gilon.

"We are working on the FTA. I hope we can make it by mid-year and it will be another boost (to relations between the two countries)," Gilon said, during an interaction at Synergia Foundation in Bengaluru, as part of its 'Global Leadership Series' late Monday evening. Terming the government-to-government and people-to-people relations between the two countries as wonderful, the Ambassador said the challenge now is to take it to the next level. According to him, technology will play a big part in taking cooperation between the two countries to the next level. While initially it was mainly defence and agriculture, many core sectors will be explored for cooperation. Israel has to be very fast as in the next ten years, India will be in such a position that it will be very difficult to sell anything to the country, he said.

"In 10 years, India will be very close to self-sufficiency in technological and other spheres of life, so the window of opportunity for creating cooperation is now, and not in five years. It is a challenge," he said.

Gilon said India is already a superpower going by the size of its population, territory and location, the military is sizable and many more elements and the economy are getting there too. "I think India is becoming a real superpower," he said.

On his meeting with Karnataka Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai, Ambassador Gilon said they discussed cooperation in various sectors, from space to agriculture, IT, cyber-security, aerospace, technology and education, and semiconductors.

TALIBAN LESS DANGEROUS THIS TIME

Ambassador Gilon said the current regime of Taliban in Afghanistan is likely to be less dangerous towards the neighbourhood. "When they come to power, there is a political element in the way they run their lives, so they understand politics in the sense of risk internally and outside. I hope this time they will be less inflammatory or dangerous toward the neighbourhood."

Pegasus is a weapon

Responding to a question on the steps the Israeli government is taking in terms of regulating the use of Pegasus spyware and undoing damage, Gilon said Pegasus is a kind of weapon developed by an Israeli private company, NSO, to combat terrorism and serious organised crime.

World leaders focus on how to punish Russia over Ukraine

Germany takes steps to halt process of certifying Nord Stream 2 gas pipeline from Russia; Britain slaps sanctions on 5 Russian banks and 3 billionaires

BRUSSELS

SHOCKED by Russian President Vladimir Putin's order to deploy troops to separatist regions of eastern Ukraine, world leaders moved quickly on Tuesday to impose as forceful a response as possible in hopes of averting a full-blown war in Europe. Germany made the first big move, taking steps to halt the process of certifying the Nord Stream 2 gas pipeline from Russia — a lucrative deal long sought by Moscow, but criticised by the US for increasing Europe's reliance on Russian energy supplies.

The rest of the European Union (EU) also put some of its cards on the table, saying its sanctions would take aim at several Russian officials, banks financing the Russian armed forces and include limiting Moscow's access to EU capital and financial markets.

British Prime Minister Boris Johnson went as far as naming five Russian banks and three wealthy individuals who were hit with sanctions on Tuesday.

The United States was moving closer to sanctions too, with the White House calling Russia's troop deployments an "invasion"— a red line that President Joe Biden has said would result in heavy US sanctions against Moscow.

The West insisted Putin's bold moves in Ukraine violated countless international agreements and since diplomacy has failed, it was time to move towards action.

Western powers have long made clear the fate of Ukraine wasn't worth a direct military confrontation with Russia and the potential of a world war, so sanctions were the only, limited, option to crystalize their anger. "No lows too low, no lies too blatant, no red lines too red to cross," Lithuanian Prime Minister Ingrida Simonyte said in summing up the political disgust felt by nations from Europe to North America and the democracies hugging Russia's borders in Asia like Japan and South Korea.

However, Putin continued to knock the world off-kilter with a strategy where confusion about the true extent of an invasion, which would automatically kick in major sanctions, remained unclear and debatable. Russia said it was sending what it deems 'peacekeepers" into eastern Ukraine, but EU foreign policy chief Josep Borrell stressed they were 'troops' on sovereign Ukrainian territory. AP

Kyiv recalls diplomat from Moscow

Kyiv has recalled its top diplomat from Moscow as President Volodymyr Zelensky said Putin's recognition of the breakaway regions — Lugansk People's Republic and Donetsk People's Republic — heralded "further military aggression" against Ukraine.

EU NATIONS APPROVE SANCTIONS

Brussels: The 27 European Union members nations have unanimously agreed on an initial set of sanctions targeting Russian officials over their actions in Ukraine, French Foreign Minister Jean-Yves Le Drianance's foreign minister said. EU foreign affairs chief Josep Borrell said the package approved on Tuesday "will hurt Russia, and it will hurt a lot. Borrell said the sanctions would affect members of Russia's lower house of parliament and other individuals involved in approving the deployment of Russian troops to separatist-held regions of eastern Ukraine. He says the package will also affect Russia's financing of policies linked to Ukraine by limiting access to EU financial markets.

WHITE HOUSE CALLS MOVE AN 'INVASION'

MOSCOW

> We think this is, yes, the beginning of an invasion, Russia's latest invasion into Ukraine
>
> Jon Finer, principal deputy national security adviser, US

THE White House on Tuesday began referring to Russian troop deployments in eastern Ukraine as an "invasion" after initially hesitating to use the term.

Several European leaders said earlier in the day that Russian troops have moved into rebel-held areas in eastern Ukraine after Russian President Vladimir Putin's recognised their independence —but some indicated it was not yet the long-feared, full-fledged invasion.

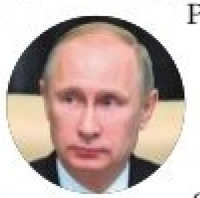
Later, the White House signalled a shift in its own position. "We think this is, yes, the beginning of an invasion, Russia's latest invasion into Ukraine," said Jon Finer, principal deputy national security adviser.

"An invasion is an invasion and that is what is underway." The White House decided to begin referring to Russia's actions as an "invasion" because of the situation on the ground, according to a US official who spoke on the condition of anonymity to discuss internal deliberations.

The administration resisted initially calling the deployment of troops because the White House wanted to see what Russia was actually going to do. After assessing Russian troop movements, it became clear it was a new invasion, the official added. AP

Putin gets nod to use force outside Russia

MOSCOW



RUSSIAN lawmakers on Tuesday authorised President Vladimir Putin to use military force outside the country — a move that could presage a broader attack on Ukraine after the US said an invasion was already underway there.

Several European leaders said Russian troops rolled into rebel-held areas in eastern Ukraine after Putin recognised their independence. But it was unclear how large the deployment was, and Ukraine and its Western allies have long said Russian troops were fighting in the region, allegations that Moscow always denied.

Members of Russia's upper house, the Federation Council, voted unanimously to allow Putin to use military force outside the country, effectively formalising a Russian military deployment to the rebel regions, where an eight-year conflict has killed nearly 14,000 people.

Shortly after, Putin laid out three conditions to end the crisis that has threatened to plunge Europe back into war, raising the spectre of massive casualties, energy shortages across the continent and economic chaos around the globe.

He called for international recognition of Crimea as part of Russia, an end to Ukraine's NATO membership bid and a halt to weapons shipments there. AP

Key organiser of Canada Covid stir denied bail

Ottawa: A judge has denied bail to one of the leading organisers behind protests against Covid restrictions and Prime Minister Justin Trudeau. Ontario Court Justice Julie Bourgeois said on Tuesday she believed there was a substantial likelihood Tamara Lich would reoffend if released. Lich has been a key organiser of protest that paralysed the streets around Parliament Hill for weeks. The trucker protest also grew until it closed a handful of Canada-US. border posts.

Lanka returns last of waste shipments to UK

Colombo: Sri Lanka has sent back the last of 263 shipping containers of waste from Britain, an official said om Tuesday, as developing nations look to block the import of refuse and other environmentally hazardous items from wealthier countries. Customs officials in the South Asian country identified the large shipment of waste two years ago, including mattresses, carpets and springs, which the local importers claimed were for recycling.

Poverty, fear drive mass exodus from Syria

RAQQA

IN a square that a few years ago was a grim stage for the Islamic State group's brutal rule in the Syrian city of Raqqa, Mahmoud Dander sat deep in thought.

He wants to leave Syria, but has a problem: The 75-year-old has no money. He recalled the old days before protests and wars led to his country's collapse and national currency crash: Syria wasn't thriving back then, but he had work, his children had university degrees and decent futures, and food was always on the table.

That's all gone now. 'We have fallen, just like our currency,' he said.

Raqqa, the former de facto capital of the self-proclaimed IS caliphate and home to about 300,000 people, is now free, but many of its residents try to leave. Those with property are trying to sell it to save up for the journey to Turkey. Those without money struggle to get by. At least 3,000 people left Raqqa for Turkey in 2021, according to the city's civil council co-chair Mohammed Nour.

Their reasons span the spectrum of post-war life in Syria, one of the world's most complex conflict zones.

They include economic collapse and widespread unemployment following one of the worst years of drought, as well as fears of an IS comeback and a proliferation of criminal gangs. And there is the looming specter of conflict between rival powers that control various parts of northern Syria, including Turkey, Russia and Syrian government forces.

On the surface, the city's slow recovery from IS rule is evident. Cafes and restaurant are full of patrons. Kurdish-led forces stand guard at every major intersection.

But poverty is rampant in the majority Arab city administered by US-backed Kurdish-led forces. People line up for basics such as bread. Unemployed young men sit around. Water and electricity are limited. Many live among bombed-out ruins. Local officials say at least 30% of the city remains destroyed.

Poverty and unemployment drive young men into the arms of IS. Kurdish investigators say new IS recruits captured last month had been lured by money.

At the same time, the Kurdish-led city administration received applications from 27,000 job seekers last year, but had no jobs. In Raqqa, having money can also be a problem as kidnappings-for-ransom are on the rise.

Real estate developer Imam al-Hasan, 37, was taken from his home and held for days by attackers in military fatigues. To secure his release, he paid $400,000, money belonging to him and traders who trusted him with their life savings. AP

Hong Kong to test all residents for Covid

HONG KONG

HONG KONG will test its entire population of 7.5 million people for Covid in March, the city's leader said on Tuesday, as it grapples with its worst outbreak driven by the omicron variant. The population will be tested three times in March, Hong Kong Chief Executive Carrie Lam said.

She said testing capacity will be boosted to 1 million a day or more. "Since we have a population of some 7 million people, testing will take about seven days," she said. Hong Kong has reported about 5,000 new daily infections since February 15, with the cases threatening to overwhelm its healthcare system. Since the current surge began at the beginning of the year, the city has recorded nearly 54,000 cases and 145 deaths.

The order for citywide testing comes after mainland Chinese authorities dispatched epidemiologists, health workers and other medical resources last week to help contain the outbreak in the semi-autonomous Chinese city.

Hong Kong has largely aligned itself with mainland China's 'zero-Covid-19' policy, which aims to totally stamp out outbreaks, even as many other countries are shifting their approach to living with the virus. Lockdowns of entire cities have been imposed in a number of areas of the mainland, but Lam said no such measure is currently being considered in Hong Kong because it is 'not realistic'.

She also denied that the central Chinese government is giving instructions to Hong Kong on how to handle the epidemic." I reiterate that central government never issued any instructions on our anti-epidemic work," she said. AP

Hike in fuel prices imminent after polls as crude nears $100 per barrel

Prices of petrol and diesel have not been revised for a record 110 days amid state elections

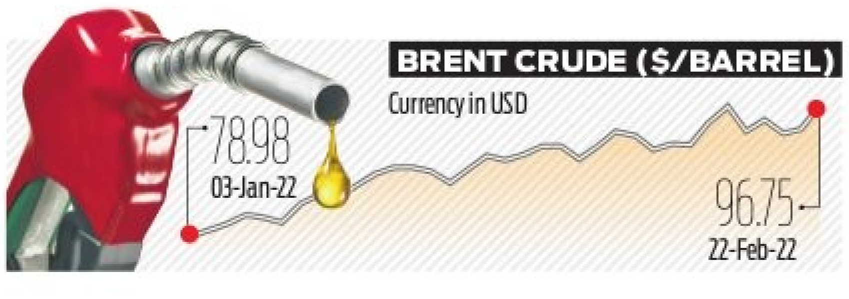
RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

EVEN as the retail fuel prices in India have been unchanged since more than three months, oil price in the international market is soon to touch $100 per barrel.

In the domestic market, the price of fuel has not been revised for a record 110 days. Many believe the hike is imminent once elections in the five states get over.

As per norms, every one dollar increase in crude prices leads to about an increase of 50 paise-60 paise per litre in retail fuel prices in India. "Any change in the prices of fuels in the international market is definitely going to have a direct or indirect impact on domestic markets," said Gaurav Moda, India Energy Leader, EY.

On Tuesday, the Brent Crude Futures was trading at $99.38 per barrel, highest since 2014. Similarly, West Texas Intermediate (WTI) rose by 4.8% to $95.47.



Analysts believe the standoff between Russia and the West over Ukraine will further hike the oil prices in the international market in the coming days. "International Brent Crude prices rose on Monday as the stand-off between Russia and the West over Ukraine escalated, adding to supply concerns. Domestic crude oil and Energy Index futures also ended higher tracking overseas prices. Tension escalated further after the Kremlin announced Putin would sign a declaration recognising two breakaway regions in eastern Ukraine as independent. The EU warned it would consider sanctions if the regions are recognised as independent," said Sriram Iyer, Senior Research Analyst at Reliance Securities.

The oil producing countries also refused to pump more fuels to ease the pressure on prices. Last week, OPEC+ said it would stick to its current agreement to add 400,000 barrels per day of oil output each month.

In November, India and the US announced the release of 5 million barrels of crude from their strategic reserves to help cool the global price. However, it failed to give the desired results due to unabeted price hikes. The fuel price has gone up more than 30% between Dec 2021 and Feb 2022.

Petrol costs ₹95.41 a litre in Delhi, and diesel is priced at ₹86.67.

India's fuel demand to grow 5.5% next fiscal

India's fuel demand is likely to grow 5.5% in the fiscal year beginning April 1 as economic activity picks up after devastation caused by the pandemic, government estimates showed on Tuesday. Fuel consumption in 2022-23 is estimated to rise to 214.5 million tonnes from 203.2 million tonnes expected sales in the current fiscal year ending March 2022, according to the oil ministry's Petroleum Planning and Analysis Cell (PPAC). It will cross the pre-pandemic level sales in the current fiscal. Demand for petroleum products grew by 4.9% in the first nine months of the current fiscal year. Fuel consumption was 148.3 million tonnes in April-December 2021. India consumed 194.3 million tonnes of petroleum produced in 2020-21 - the year that saw a pandemic-related lockdown crippling economy and mobility. PTI

Edtech platform Lido lays off 200 staff; to be acquired soon

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

JUST five months after raising $10 million (close to ₹73 crore) from Ronnie Screwvala's Unilazer Ventures, edtech startup Lido Learning is facing severe financial constraints.

Various sources confirmed that the start-up, which is struggling with its day-to-day operations, will be acquired by another edtech company within a week.

The start-up's employee strength is around 1,000, and it has laid off 150-200 employees. A source close to the company said, "These employees were underperforming and were also not regular to the office."

However, the employees' version is entirely different. A couple of employees TNIE spoke to on condition of anonymity alleged that a toxic work culture prevails in Lido Learning. Many employees also took to social media and said that they have not been paid salaries.

"Edtech start-ups are demanding and we had a tough time working at Lido," said one of the former employees of the start-up. Soon after raising $10 million, Lido is also said to have spent the money in massive hiring, and also for various promotional activities. It also paid employees more and funds dried up faster leading to financial constraints.

Apart from this, Lido Learning has defaulted on many refunds.

Started in 2019 by Sahil Sheth, who worked previously with BYJU's, Lido operates in the small-group and online tuitions space. It offers 70 classes to 250 classes and the fees start from ₹25,000 after discount. There are even 420 classes starting from ₹90,000.

"Since teachers are not paid, classes are not being conducted regularly. Also, if a student refers to another student, he/she will receive a ₹10,000 voucher," said one of the employees.

According to India Brand Equity Foundation, the edtech market in India is expected to touch $4 billion by 2025 from $750 million in 2020.

Govt unlikely to cut price for 5G spectrum auction

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE government is unlikely to cut the reserve prices for 5G spectrum in the auctions scheduled for later this year. An official informed that the government seems to be in no mood to slash the price of 5G spectrum for telecom operators.

For the past few months, all the private telecom operators in India have advocated for rationalisation in prices for 5G airwaves, which they think are exorbitant. They have urged the government to cut the base price of spectrum by more than half for the upcoming 5G auction. "It is on their part to request for the low price for the spectrum, but the government is not going to do it," said the official.

Last year, in the first auction of radio airwaves the government offered 2,308.80 MHz of spectrum in seven bands at a reserve price of nearly ₹4 lakh crore. The airwaves in the premium 700 MHz and 2,500 MHz bands went unsold mainly due to high base price. Also, the government could not put 3.3-3.6 Ghz frequency range for auction as it could not get it vacated in time and the base price of the band was termed to be very expensive for 5G services.

The proposed spectrum auction is likely to be held before August.

The government wants to showcase the auction of 5G spectrum as an achievement during its 75th Independence Day celebration. The Telecom Regulatory Authority of India is expected to come out with its recommendations for the upcoming 5G auction by March-end.

DII buying softens shock of Ukraine crisis for markets

RAM SAHGAL @ Mumbai

FRONTLINE indices Nifty and Sensex gyrated wildly amid Russia-Ukraine tensions, recovering from intraday lows in the closing hours of trade on domestic institutional (DII) buying. However, uncertainty persists with fear gauge India Vix having posted its highest closing in a year at 26.66 – a reading above 20 reflects a high degree of uncertainty.

The broader Nifty swung 305 points between high and low Tuesday before closing down 0.7% at 17092.2. The Sensex oscillated 1111 points before ending 0.7% lower at 57300.68. The recovery was in line with European indices on hopes that Russia would desist from a full-fledged attack on Ukraine.

Gold hit a 13-month high of ₹50,547 per 10 gm intraday on safe haven buying even as crude oil topped a seven-year high of $96.29.

DIIs purchased a provisional ₹4,109 crore of shares helping the indices to recover from their day lows in the last hour and a half of trade. However, FIIs continued on their selling spree, offloading shares worth a provisional ₹3,245 crore. "The Nifty has taken support around its 200-day simple moving average of 16876, and now must cross 17300 for the uptrend to resume," said Rohit Srivastava, founder, IndiaCharts.

LIC on course to list this fiscal, says FM

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

THE government will go ahead with the much-awaited LIC IPO in the current fiscal year as planned, even as volatility, arising in part due to tightening liquidity conditions globally and partly due to geopolitical tensions, buffets the stock market.

"The LIC IPO has been eagerly awaited, and we are on course and are moving forward," finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman told reporters at the conclusion of the 2-day budget outreach programme with industry, bankers and regulators.

Queried on the possibility of the insurer's listing missing its deadline in the current fiscal, Sitharaman countered, "A DRHP is not filed two years in advance, is it?"

"We are equally worried if the market condition is conducive for LIC – if it's good for LIC it's good for everybody else and if it's got headwinds for LIC, it's got headwinds for the rest as well. There is buzz in the market, a lot of interest in the market, and I' m glad in the way it (DRHP) has been crafted in that shareholders also have a role to play, and we'll be going ahead with it (the IPO)."

On the recent Sebi order accusing the former NSE management led by Chitra Ramkrishna and questioning whether its penalty on those responsible for corporate governance lapses was adequate, Sitharaman said she couldn't proffer her view on the merits or demerits of the order, but was looking into the matter. "I have no view this way or that way, till I really get to the bottom of what is available. I am looking into it but I won't be able to comment on it at the moment," she said.

Addressing quries on the impact of rising crude prices and whether the government could consider some tax relief on fuels, she said crude oil featured as one of the aspects that could impact financial stability in an FSDC meeting she chaired Tuesday amid the ongoing Russia-Ukraine tensions, both of which she termed "headwinds".

NEW CFO

Former CEO of SriLankan Airlines boards Jet Airways

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

JALAN Kalrock consortium, the new promoters of jet Airways, has appointed Vipula Gunatilleka as the chief financial officer (CFO). Gunatilleka was the CEO of SriLankan Airlines until Jan 2022 and was leading the island nation's national carrier during the pandemic.

The appointment comes a month after Jet Airways' Accountable Manager Captain Sudhir Gaur had quietly left the airline. Since the consortium's plan to revive Jet was approved by the NCLT in June 2021, it has faced multiple setbacks to resume operations.

Last year in December, the consortium had said that Jet Airways will re-commence its operations "at the earliest" in 2022 with six narrow body aircraft. However, so far, they have not announced a timeline as to when Jet 2.0 would make its maiden flight.

Ankit Jalan, member of the monitoring committee of Jet Airways and part of Jalan-Kalrock consortium, said, "Gunatilleka has been shortlisted after a rigorous process run by our executive team over the last several months…"

Gunatilleka said, "Having spent sufficient time in leadership roles in the aviation industry including as CEO of SriLankan Airlines until Jan 2022, I am aware of the responsibility that lingers on the shoulders of the leadership team, especially the CFO, and I am confident Jet Airways will soon regain its lost glory."

Facilio raises $35 m from Dragoneer, Brookfield Growth, others

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

AI-DRIVEN property operations platform Facilio has raised $35 million in Series B round, led by Dragoneer Investment Group with participation from Brookfield Growth.

Existing investors Accel India and Tiger Global Management too participated in the round.

"When we started in 2017, we got a funding of $1 million from Accel and in the next year, we raised $6.5 million from Tiger Global and Accel. So far, we have raised $45.5 million," Prabhu Ramachandran, Founder and CEO, Facilio, told TNIE.

Facilio offers a unified software platform that leverages an AI-led predictive engine to help real estate portfolios digitise processes and optimise their property operations. The US-based start-up's solutions are deployed across commercial offices, healthcare, retail and banking.

In 2021, the company's revenue grew four times compared to 2020. India is still a small market for Facilio. "Most of the revenue comes from outside India and the country has potential but needs more time for the market to mature," he said.

The size of the commercial real estate-focused operations software market is $50 billion. Facilio is at present solving operational problems for over 10,000 properties, over 100 million sq.ft across 12 countries. It has more than 40 larger enterprise customers including Brookfield. In India, it works with Brigade and Sutherland, among others.

GOVT OPEN TO TALKS WITH IMF AMID ECONOMIC CRISIS

Sri Lanka is open to discussions with the International Monetary Fund (IMF) and other multilateral lenders for assistance, a cabinet spokesman said on Tuesday, as it faces its worst economic crisis in years. Sri Lanka's foreign exchange reserves have plummeted to $2.36 billion, hitting imports of essential goods, including fuel, and inflation is quickening. The island nation of 22 million people also faces debt repayment obligations of about $4 billion this year, and opposition leaders and economists are pushing the government to seek assistance from the likes of the IMF. Some opposition members have also urged the government to table in parliament an upcoming IMF assessment of the economic and financial situation, conducted as part of its regular Article IV consultations. With fuel stocks sufficient for supplies for only a few days, Pathirana said the central bank had been directed to release funds for fuel shipments.

THAILAND

DIGITAL, CIRCULAR ECONOMY CAN EARN $3.4 BN/YR: WB

Digital and disruptive technologies and development of a circular economy can earn Thailand up to $3.4 billion each year in additional investments, savings and revenue, the World Bank said on Tuesday. Thailand, a $544 billion economy before the pandemic hit, needs an innovation-led growth model and to address existing foreign investment constraints to create better jobs and become a high-income country, it said in a statement. Adopting a circular economy, which involves producing, leasing, repairing, upgrading and recycling as much as possible, could generate as much as $1.6 billion of cost savings and additional revenue for the private sector, especially for agriculture, construction, and electronics, the bank said. An additional $1.8 billion a year could be generated from accelerating use of digital technology, it added, mostly from new investments and expansion of sectors where Thailand is well-positioned, like e-commerce and fintech. The tourism- and consumption-led economy grew 1.6% last year.

BANK OF KOREA TO PAUSE RATE HIKES ON FEB 24: POLL

The Bank of Korea will leave rates on hold on Thursday after back-to-back hikes at the previous two meetings, according to economists in a Reuters poll who said elevated inflation would lead it to resume raising borrowing costs next quarter. Consumer price inflation in Asia's fourth-largest economy jumped to a near-decade high of 3.6% in January, remaining above the central bank's 2% target for a 10th month. To tame those price pressures, as well as to curb rampant house price growth and surging household debt, the BOK has raised interest rates three times since August last year. The February, 15-21 poll showed all but one of 28 economists expected the BOK to leave its base rate unchanged at 1.25% at the Feb. 24 policy meeting. Only one predicted a 25 basis point increase at the upcoming meeting. "Inflation, GDP (gross domestic product), monthly industrial activity and employment all support the BOK's current hawkish stance," noted Oh Suktae, economist at Societe Generale. He forecasts no change on Thursday.

Govt's bond auction programme in March depends on size of LIC IPO

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

AFTER cancelling the sale of government bonds twice this month, the government has decided to go ahead with the scheduled ₹23,000-crore sale of bonds on February 25.

Macroeconomic and public accounts experts now believe that whether or not the government goes ahead with sale of bond in March would depend on the size and timing of the initial public offer (IPO) of public sector insurer Life Insurance Corporation of India (LIC).

The government had earlier cancelled two auctions of government bonds scheduled on 7th and 14th of February as it had sufficient cash.

The cancellation of bond sales helped cool down the yields on 10-years government bonds, which had breached 6.9% levels in the first half of February.

The yields on 10-years government bonds are now trading at around ₹6.75%.

The government expects to raise ₹8.75 lakh crore from sale of bonds and treasury bills in 2021-22. However, a lot would depend on the size of IPO of LIC, which is likely to be listed on the bourses in March.

Though the government has been tight-lipped on the size of the issue, the sense from the market is that the government is planning to raise in the range of ₹60,000-70,000 crore.

The government has set a target of raising ₹73,000 crore from disinvestment. So far, it has only raised ₹12,000 crore. If the government manages to raise anything upwards of ₹70,000 crore, the government may not have to borrow as planned.

The government has raised the fiscal deficit target for the current financial year from the earlier 6.8% to 6.9% despite expectation of downward revision. Finance ministry officials had told TNIE that the upward revision in fiscal deficit was owing to confidence of spending departments which asked for more funds to be spent in the fourth quarter.

Banker gifts ₹3.95-cr share to help people buy homes

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

IDFC First Bank MD and CEO V Vaidyanathan has gifted 9 lakh shares of the bank held by him (or 3.7% of the holding), worth over ₹3.95 crore, to five individuals, including his trainer, househelp and driver, to help them purchase homes.

Add to this, another two lakh shares were disposed by Rukmani Social Welfare Trust, to support social activities, taking the total count to 11 lakh shares. Adding the two, the total amount comes to around ₹4.83 crore.

"Thus, total shares disposed for gifts and social activities is 11,00,000 equity shares of IDFC FIRST Bank Limited, and it is submitted as part of these disclosures, that there are no direct or indirect benefits derived by V Vaidyanathan from these transactions," IDFC First Bank said in a regulatory filing.

Earlier in May 2021, he had gifted 1.5 lakh shares each to three persons to buy homes. According to Bloomberg, Vaidyanathan, 54, has gifted roughly 38% of his stake since Jan 2018, when he was head of shadow lender Capital First that was later merged with IDFC Bank to create IDFC First Bank. That includes a 2020 gift to his former maths teacher who had lent Vaidyanathan ₹500 when the now CEO was a broke student who had won admission into a premier school but didn't have the cash to travel to the institute.

Vaidyanathan has gifted 3 lakh shares to his trainer Ramesh Raju; 2 lakh shares each to househelp Pranjal Narvekar and driver Algarsamy C Munapar; and 1 lakh shares each to office support staff Deepak Pathare and househelp Santosh Jogale.

Ball bearing causing more concerns for India women

GOMESH S @ Chennai

ALMOST a month ago, when India skipper Mithali Raj was asked about the inexperienced pace attack in the pre-departure press conference, she said that along with the veteran fast bowler Jhulan Goswami they would come good in the New Zealand series and the ODI World Cup. "Sometimes it is also important to give players an opportunity when they are in rhythm and performing," Raj had said. Cut to Tuesday, after their fifth consecutive defeat on the tour, having lost both the lone T20I and the ODI series, Mithali acknowledged that bowling attack is a concern going into the World Cup. "We have not been very consistent in our bowling spells," the skipper said after going down in the fourth ODI, which was a truncated 20-over affair due to rain. Over the four ODIs, India have conceded above 270 thrice — twice while defending — and gave over nine runs per over on Tuesday. While the spinners — Deepti Sharma and Rajeshwari Gayakwad — have done well, taking 12 wickets between them, the pacers have struggled to make inroads both with new ball and in middle overs. Goswami took five wickets in two matches, but rest of the pace attack have done very little so far. That Mithali did not have the services of Renuka Singh Thakur and Meghna Singh for the better part of the series didn't help their cause.

WEB SERIES: A TALE WITH A SPIN

Indian batters' struggles against tweakers, especially in the T20 format, continue as Lankans come calling

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Chennai

CONNECT Roston Chase, Mitchell Santner, Wanindu Hasaranga, Mitchell Swepson and Ish Sodhi. They have all troubled Indian batters in T20I cricket in the recent past. The hosts may have beaten West Indies 3-0 in the shortest format but their struggle against spin — a trend that's become hard to ignore in recent times — refuses to abate. Even as the pacers were despatched with minimal fuss, Chase routinely put the skids on the scoring. Against the West Indies bowling, including the off-spinner, India scored at a rate of 8.76 in the three games. Against Chase alone, it dropped to 5.16 (it's been an Achilles Heel in all three forms but that's a different story).

This also presented itself at the World Cup when New Zealand and Pakistan found some joy. Mohammad Hafeez, Imad Wasim and Shadab Khan bowled eight overs for 44 while Santner and Sodhi gave away just 32 in eight overs. Santner and Sodhi, the most impressive Kiwi bowlers in that five-match T20I series in 2020, showed that India aren't all that good against spin. In that infamous 2016 World T20 encounter in Nagpur, the duo, in the company of Nathan McCullum, wrecked the batting lineup, picking up 9/44 in 11 overs. While the surface exaggerated those figures, spinners are still finding joy when playing India.

From the beginning of 2019, Indian batters average 27 runs against spin as compared to 35.5 against pace. Their strike rates are also as stark. For every 100 balls they face against spin, they score only 121.8 runs (against pace, that number is 145.2). Extrapolating that over an entire match, they score 145 runs for every 120 balls faced (169 against pace). A few things to note before analysing why there's a huge drop off. The world over, batters are struggling against spin in the shortest format. The strike rate against spin is just 113 (125 against pace) while the economy is just 6.97 (7.87 against pace). So, while one could argue that India are not good against spin, they are actually not as bad as the world average.

But a difference of 24 runs across 20 overs is one of the worst among all teams. Why? Sachin Tendulkar had a theory that he shared on his official Facebook account during the World Cup in UAE. "I have noticed one thing," he had said. "leg-spinners who are mixing their deliveries, bowling googlies, top-spin, flipper and normal leg-spin have been successful in the recent past against India. I believe this is the area where we have to improve."

Chase is predominantly an off-spinner but Tendulkar's analysis was spot on. In every T20I series since 2020, leggies have either bagged the most wickets or been the most economical or both. Swepson, Hasaranga and Adil Rashid are three examples. In the T20I series in Australia, Swepson picked five wickets at 13.80 at an economy of just 6.9. Keeping in mind a depleted team in Sri Lanka in July, Hasaranga scalped seven at 9.57 at an economy of 5.58. Even in the series against England (March) and New Zealand (November), the hosts had trouble hitting Rashid (7.78, four wickets) and Santner (6.58, four).

In the Sri Lanka series starting in Lucknow on Thursday, Hasaranga and, mystery spinner, Maheesh Theekshana, will look to keep the sequence going. As far as India are concerned, they will try to arrest it.

Inter-varsity C'ships: Dutee, Priya set records

TANMAY DAS @ Bhubaneswar

THE 2019 World University Games gold medallist, Dutee Chand, clocked 11.44 seconds to clinch 100m gold and create a meet record on day two of the 81st All India Inter-University Athletics Women's Championships at the KIIT University ground. Dutee broke the previous record (11.56 seconds) set by NM Simi of MG University, Kottayam (Kerala) in 2018. Preeti and Narale Avantika bagged the silver and bronze medals by clocking 11.66s and 11.76s, respectively. Priya H Mohan bagged 400m title clocking 52.58 seconds. The effort in final meant she bettered her previous best of 52.77 seconds at the 2021 World U-20 Championships where she finished fourth.

SEEKING EURO HIGH

Two unpredictable sides, Manchester United and Atletico Madrid, go head-to-head, a tie that could give a hint on how the rest of their seasons pans out. A look at Wednesday's CL Round of 16 fixtures...

ATLETICO VS MAN UNITED

After a historic La Liga triumph last season, Atletico are enduring one of their most turbulent moments under Diego Simeone. They have been vulnerable at the back and have suffered several humiliating defeats this term. But they've stepped up in crunch time during the Champions League to make it till this stage. United, on the other hand, have flattered to deceive. However, they have all the firepower to trouble any team. United have showed signs of recovery and a win could act as a springboard for the rest of the season under interim manager Ralf Ragnick.

BENFICA VS AJAX

Ajax sparkled in the group stage, winning all six games. They are as dominant domestically, winning the last seven matches to establish a five-point lead at top of Eredivisie. On the other hand, Benfica's confidence isn't high now after winning only twice in five games in all competitions. The latest setback was a 2-2 draw at Boavista in the Portuguese league after leading 2-0 until the 74th minute. The result was another blow for the Portuguese side that is only third in the league standings, behind rivals Sporting Lisbon and leader Porto.

Fans' welcome above expectations: Djokovic

AFP @ Dubai

NOVAK Djokovic admitted the warm reception he was given by fans in Dubai on Monday exceeded his expectations as he made a successful return to the tour for the first time since his deportation from Australia.

The World No 1 kicked off his 2022 campaign with a 6-3, 6-3 victory over Italian teenager Lorenzo Musetti, and was greeted by loud cheers from a packed stadium as he commenced his quest for a sixth title in the Emirates in style. Djokovic was not sure how he would be received in the wake of everything that happened in Australia last month, but stated he "couldn't ask for a better reception" as fans scrambled to take photos with him after the match, chanting 'Nole, Nole', to celebrate his victory and his return to action. "I think Dubai is a perfect place for me to start a season because of the support and the fans that showed up tonight and really cheered me on the way they did," Djokovic told reporters in an outdoor press conference that was specifically set up for him, away from the main interview room. "They exceeded my best expectations, so to say, in terms of the atmosphere." The 34-year-old's hopes of winning a 10th Australian Open, and 21st Grand Slam, last month were shattered when he had his visa cancelled and was deported for not being vaccinated against Covid-19.

DAY'S DIARY

Polio vaccine

First mass inoculation against polio was held on this day in 1954. Children from the Arsenal Elementary School in Pittsburgh took part in the first 'field test'

SALK'S DEVELOPMENT

The inactivated poliovirus vaccine (IPV) or Salk vaccine was developed in the early 1950s by American physician Jonas Salk. It contains killed virus and is given by injection

TEST SUBJECTS

American parents, who were looking for anything that could beat polio, offered up more than 1.8 million children to serve as test subjects

A SUCCESS

Salk had already tried it on volunteers, starting with himself, his wife, and their children, who'd successfully produced polio antibodies without getting sick

RIGHT MOVES

Men in Bengaluru are warming up to strengthening exercise, Pilates, which has been popular among women after the likes of Deepika Padukone and Malaika Arora opted for it

MONIKA MONALISA

BUSINESSMAN Anand Ahuja, husband of actor Sonam Kapoor, recently mentioned that his perfect Sunday comprises a great Pilates' session. Posting his photograph on social media, his trainer Radhika Karle said, "Busting Myths-Pilates is not easy & men do pilates (sic)." While Pilates as a fitness regime has always been popular among women, it has now grabbed the interest of men too.

For example, Aayush Koshy, a financial analyst by profession, took up Pilates recently in November 2021. "I had a couple of knee surgeries and due to so many operations, my movement got messed up. Pilates is helping me get my body movement back to its optimal level," says Koshy, a semi-professional football player who has opted for private sessions currently. But he is aware that Pilates is mostly known as a 'women-centric exercise'. "That's a general misconception. Pilates works great for sportsmen because of the wear and tear that they go through," says the 21-year-old.

From Bengaluru girl Deepika Padukone to fashionista Malaika Arora, one of their favourite fitness routines is Pilates. Instructor Kavita Prakash says the quest of getting the 'celeb-type of body' has led many girls to take it up. "In India, it was popularised by female celebrities. But it can be practiced by anybody and across any age group," says Prakash, who runs Pilates for Well Being on Lavelle Road. Prakash mentions that currently 40 per cent of her clientele is male. "It was considered niche because of the price it came with. We actually try to market Pilates as a universal practice with many of our female clients themselves suggesting that they would like to bring their husband or son along," says Shetty, who charges around ₹ 850 for group classes and ₹1,500 upwards for individual classes.

Abdul Kalam, who runs his Pilates studio named The Pilate Health, near Ulsoor lake, has seen a marginal increase in male clients after he opened his studio. "While there is this misconception that Pilates is for women, I would suggest people try it out first before jumping to conclusions," says Kalam, who practices traditional Pilates.

Men are also warming up to the exercise owing to the increase in male instructors. "While it might not be the primary reason, I feel that opting for a male instructor comes with a certain comfort level and it also gives confidence," says Navil Ratish, runs an event management company.

Pilates' instructors Kavita Prakash (top) and Abdul Kalam (left) training their respective clients

ALL ABOUT PILATES

Pilates is a movement practice which was introduced by Joseph Pilates during World War 1 to rehabilitate prisoners of war or injured soldiers when he was in a camp in England. He then took the movement practice to the USA and since there was a ballet studio next to his studio, it became extremely popular with ballet dancers who are extremely prone to injuries.

Camping 2.0

It might lack the 'sleeping under the stars' experience, but glamping, luxury camping, is now picking up among Bengalureans who are looking for a comfortable stay amidst nature

ANILA KURIAN

WITH the pandemic receding and people eager to go back to the pre-Covid way of life, travel is slowly but surely picking up. Bengalureans are opting to spend time amidst nature. Camping is so yesterday for Bengalureans who are now moving towards 'glamping', where one goes and camps in a cabin-like structure which comes along with several amenities. So, unlike traditional camping, you don't have to lug items on this trip.

Located around Bengaluru and nearby driving locations, some people are planning their trips to get away from the hustle and bustle of the city. Lifestyle blogger Swapna Venkatesh recently visited Birds Eye Estate in Chikmagalur and stayed in a geodesic tent, a spherical structure made of interconnected triangles. Sharing her experience, she says, "I love being out in nature, away from the crowd of the city. There's a certain thrill in carrying your gear, climbing high and going camping but there's a lot of preparation that goes into it. Instead of that, I opted for a place that already has some camping set-ups ready." She points out that the interiors of the tent aren't exposed to the "sleeping under the stars experience" but the various amenities available makes it a comfortable stay. "You'll be given a stove to cook with, electric plugs, fully-functional washrooms with a shower attached and a comfortable bed to sleep on, something that most camping experiences lack," explains Venkatesh. She has also stayed in container tents which are shipping containers transformed into a cabin. "It has all the similar facilities and glamping is a great experience if you want to cut-off from everything and spend a few days with nature. And with glamping, all you have to do is pack your suitcase, carry some snacks and everything else will be provided," she adds.

Photographer Auditya Venkatesh and his family, including six dogs, trooped to Kodaikanal to stay at Xacro Experience where he booked two geodesic tents in the three-acre property with. "I thought it would be best if I booked the whole space, so our dogs could run around freely. We have more than enough space in the dome as there's sufficient storage space for you to make coffee and other necessary amenities. We were also provided with food," explains Venkatesh, who says having a Wi-Fi connection also allows people to work from the location. To complete the camping experience, glamping also comes with bonfires and trek options. "We weren't disappointed with the experience at all because we already knew all the amenities that would be provided. We even got to see a few bison around and enjoyed the beautiful location from the deck just outside the dome," says Venkatesh.

According to Pranitha Badrinath of Birds Eye Estate, this new concept is becoming popular among travellers. "We have two domes available at ₹5,000 each. We've been booked out every weekend since we launched in 2021 but it's only for people who really want to be away from the city. We don't provide Wi-Fi so it's not ideal for those working," she explains. Amit Shetty, CEO and founder of Campmonk, a tour operator, points out that there's a new glamping property coming up in Bannerghatta next month. "We're planning 10 glamping units that also has a private lake. This way, people can have a great glamping experience without having to drive too far away from the city," he explains.

Sound of Love

Saad Khan's latest audio series Pitching Pyaar is all about love, lust and the like

MONIKA MONALISA

DIRECTOR-writer Saad Khan has worked on a variety of shows. His latest venture Pitching Pyaar, an audio Hindi series on Audible, is a new feather in his cap. "I have been lucky to direct stage plays, do improv theatre, work on web series and feature films," laughs Khan, adding that when filter coffee and dice media reached out to him to direct an audio series, it was 'obviously' an exciting offer since it was something new.

Pitching Pyaar, an eight-episode romantic-comedy audio series, revolves around a couple – played by Shreya Dhanwanthary and Veer Rajwant Singh – who is trying their hands at setting up a start up.Dhanwanthary was last seen in Scam 1992, The Family Man, while Raj has been part of many comic series. Khan, who was very keen on casting actual actors over voice over artists for this show, went through various audio samples to finalise the cast. "Voice is very different from sound. When I heard the audio samples, I was looking for emotions in addition to the texture," he says.

When Khan came on board, the script was already written. But the team also brought on him as co-writer. "They wanted me to add some punch with my experience in comedy," says Khan, adding that work on this started soon after the first wave of the pandemic with post-production taking place after the second wave. "Shreya has a very good voice and her intonations are also good," explains Khan. Apart from that, when the voices were finalised, he worked on facial expressions with the actors during rehearsals.

One might have many tips on how to direct the actors for video, but directing a voice comes with its own challenges. "Since I have been lucky to teach acting for the longest time, I always emphasise the importance of sound. The attention span is going to be short, so it's basically casting the right voice," says Khan, adding that it's important to give the feeling of multiple voices and varied emotions. A tight script can make an audio show. And like all else, preparation is key. "If the character is going to speak fast or is in a hurry, these have to be conveyed just through the voice," says Khan, who is currently directing a Telugu feature film.

FIT BIT

EKA PADA KONGANARASANA

(ONE LEGGED POSE DEDICATED TO SIDDHAR KONGANAR)

In this backbend posture, use your hands and arms to pull your trunk and legs up together to form a curve. It tones back muscles and maintains the elasticity of spine, improving posture and increasing vitality. It is an excellent pose for the well-functioning of all the organs. Spiritually, it helps to open the Ajna (third eye) Chakra. Practice in the presence of an expert.

STEPS

- Begin by lying flat on your stomach with your legs straight out behind you. Engage Mula Bandha, Uddhiyana Bandha, and Ujjayi breathing.
- Exhale and bring your forearms to the floor with your shoulders above of your elbows.
- Inhale, lengthen your neck, roll your shoulder blades down, and feel the backbend in your upper back. On the next exhale, press strongly into your hands and straighten your arms.
- Exhale and bend both your knees, reaching your feet toward your head. On the next exhale, reach your right hand behind you and grab onto your right shin. Keep sliding your right hand until your right foot reaches your right armpit and your right hand rests on your right knee.
- Inhale and reach your left arm over your head. Exhale and grab onto your left foot with your left hand, keeping your left elbow close to your ear. Hold for 30-90 seconds.
- Inhale, let go of your legs one by one, and lower your chest and feet to come back to the starting pose. Repeat on the opposite side.

BENEFITS

- Tones and massages the organs of the body.
- Liver, kidneys, pancreas, adrenal glands and abdominal organs benefit.
- Improves the functioning of excretory process and reproductive system.
- Eases menstrual cramps.
- Stretches spine, muscles and ligaments.
- Improves respiration and circulation of blood.
- Improves body posture.

LIMITATIONS

- Avoid strain to the body. Don't retain the final position for too long.
- People suffering from high BP, fragile heart, abdominal ulcer, hernia, migraine, neck injury, frequent headaches or bowel disease, and pregnant women, avoid this asana.

MUSIC WITH A MESSAGE

B'luru-based falutist Pravin Godkhindi on his soon to-be-launched book which delves into the nuances of Hindustani classical music

SANATH PRASAD

FAMED musician Pravin Godkhindi's new book, Prahara Haduva Gadiyara (or The Singing Clock) is a novel based on how ragas can promote peace and harmony in society and also be therapeutic. Set in post-independent India, the book highlights how a clock that sings a raga every hour during the day, can actually reshape the sentiments in a society and can usher in positivity. The Kannada version of the book will be launched on February 25 at Dr C Ashwath Kala Bhavana Auditorium, Basavanagudi. Excerpts from the interview:

From a Hindustani classical artiste to an author – what explains this transition in your life?
My great-grandfather was a playwright and song writer, so writing has been in our family's genes all the while. The pandemic-ridden lockdown gave me the time and space to think. It's then that I realised the boom in the OTT space. I realised there was no story based on classical music and that is when I set the ball rolling. I initially wrote this in English but my friends in the literature fraternity, especially Jayant Kaikini, insisted I write in Kannada.

What is the crux of Prahara Haduva Gadiyara?
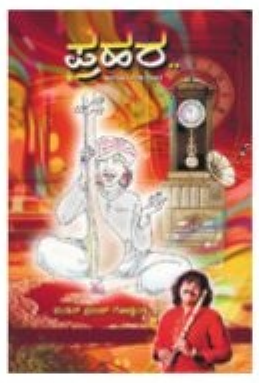
The story is set in the late '50s and '60s in the North Karnataka regions of Dharwad and Hubballi. In the Hindustani classical music scene, we have something called prahara where one prahara is equal to three hours. And each prahara corresponds with a specific raga and has to be sung at a particular time of the day. In my story, Buva – referred to as a pandit in the music scene – devises a mechanism that plays a particular raga every hour. He believes this device will interest people in Hindustani classical music which will eventually promote peace, harmony, positivity and also add a therapeutic value. But all the twists and turns begin after a doctor uses this mechanism or the clock for raga therapy. What happens next forms the crux of the story.



How does the story serve the larger context of addressing the importance of Hindustani classical music?
The central character believes that he wants to rebuild and reshape the nation by popularising Hindustani classical music. He feels that the clock he has invented should be used in every household of India where people listen and understand the essence of music. Moreover, throughout my 25-year musical journey, I have thrown extensive light on ragas during my concerts. The book is an extended version in literature where music lovers can celebrate the vibes of Hindustani classical music. Overall, the character in the story wants to work towards a culturally-sophisticated society through classical music.

You've used the local dialect in the writing of the book. Could you elaborate...
Since the story is set in Dharwad and Hubballi, I have used the Uttara Karnataka dialect to bring in realism. Moreover, the story is not just about ragas, there is a musical face-off between two great musicians, a love story, a complete surrendering to music, suspense and other emotions. I have also gone into the detailing of ragas, written down swaras and the meanings of some musical jargons.

What is your next step in the field of literature?
As of now, the focus is to launch the book in Kannada and works are on to release the English version as well. In fact, some filmmakers have shown interest in adapting the book into a film. However, there are some more interesting stories in my mind which I will start working on when time permits.

(Prahara Haduva Gadiyara is published by Sapna Book House and is priced at ₹120)

Big Little Books

FLYLEAF

VR FEROSE

(The author is a technologist based in Silicon Valley who is gently mad about books)

IT was by a complete accident that I first came across a Big Little Book (BLB). One of the collectors in Bengaluru was selling his collection of rare books and I was interested in acquiring them. When I looked at the lot, I came across an odd-sized book titled The Calcutta Affair by George S Elrick. It did not interest me at that point, until I came across a huge collection of similar sized books at Bells Bookstore in Palo Alto many years later. That's when I got interested and bought a rare copy of Edgar Rice Burroughs' The Son of Tarzan signed by Gordon Scott, the actor who played Tarzan in five movies between 1955 and 1960. Big Little Books have now become collectibles and are prized for their impeccable design and classic illustrations.

The Great Depression gave rise to inexpensive forms of entertainment: ten-cent motion pictures, free-radio programmes and cheap reading materials. They came from the few industries that prospered during the decade, and their influence was felt deeply and is warmly remembered by millions. The ten-cent BLBs and other forms of entertainment provided escapes from reality and stirred people's hopes and fantasies of what an ideal world would look like.

The first Big Little Book, The Adventures of Dick Tracy, Detective #707, was published in December 1932 by the Whitman Publishing Company of Racine, Wisconsin. It was released in time for the Christmas season, marking the beginning of the BLB's golden age: the period from 1932 to 1938. In mid-1938, Whitman and several competing companies changed their copyrighted logos: Whitman's Big Little Books became Better Little Books. From 1938-1950 the books slowly faded away due to economic and societal changes and stiff competition from comic books. The series continued until its end in the 1960s.

BLBs were small, compact books designed with a captioned illustration opposite each page of text. A Big Little Book was typically 3 inches wide and 4.5 inches high, with 212 to 432 pages making an approximate thickness of 1.5 inches. Inside the book, the design usually displayed full-page black-and-white illustrations (later books had colour) on the right side, facing the pages of text on the left. Stories were often related to ongoing radio programmes. Some of the biggest stars in these series include Buck Rogers, Dick Tracey, Betty Boop, Alley Oop and Mickey Mouse.

Over 1,100 BLBs were published by various publications. They seem to transcend being just books. Small, blocky and colourful, the books have the aroma and yellowish glow of old newsprint, and they hold the promise of adventure, laughter and love. Some BLBs such as the The Return of the Phantom were flip books where the character appears to move when the pages are flipped in quick succession.

Make mine a small one was an essay published in The New York Times where the author Powell Lawrence Clark talks of the pleasures of small books. Apart from the fact that they occupy less space in your home, one advantage is that you could hold it in one hand and read, while holding a cup of tea in the other!

If you need to read one book about BLB, I would choose The Big Book of Big Little Books by Billy Borden, which features jacket art and illustrations from rare BLBs. Needless to say, the author has been a lifelong collector of BLBs.

I am eager to see if the pandemic will see the return of forms of cheap entertainment, similar to BLBs!

'I NEED TO DISTANCE MYSELF FROM FILMS THAT BEAR THE TITLE LOVE'

... says Rachita Ram, who talks about her role in the upcoming film, Ek Love Ya, and discusses being in the headlines for playing 'bold' characters

A SHARADHAA

RACHITA Ram, who has carved her niche in the Kannada industry, has recently been making headlines for the kind of roles she has picked in a few films. The Dimple Queen of Sandalwood is trying to get out of her comfort zone, and wants to be part of 'Hatke' roles. However, not all is well because some of her choices are being considered 'bold'. "It began in I Love You, and then there was a discussion about a few scenes from Love You Racchu, and now, the conversation is about my upcoming film, Ek Love Ya," says Rachita, ahead of the film's release on February 24.

From what we have seen of Ek Love Ya so far through the trailer and few songs, Rachita's style, her smoking and drinking scenes, and the kiss with her costar Raanna has grabbed everyone's attention. Talking about this response, Rachita says, "There were films like Pushapaka Vimana, Ayushman Bhava, and 100 too where I was appreciated for the roles I played. However, these roles don't become headlines." Delving further into this aspect of her career, Rachita asserts, "There were times when I was asked to pick characters to avoid getting stereotyped. Now, when I'm trying to explore my versatility, I'm not being encouraged. People seem to accept me in regular commercial films, but I wish to break that mould by making a mark with content-based subjects too. That's why I chose subjects like Ayushmann Bhava, Pushpaka Vimana, 100, and even Ayogya."

Going by the debates about her roles, Rachita humorously suggests that it is best she keeps her distance from films that have 'love' in the title. "Now, I do have Deepak Gangadhar's Love Me or Hate Me in the pipeline. However, the next time anybody approaches me with a project, I will discuss the title and give my suggestions," says Rachita, adding, "Somewhere, the word 'Love' isn't working out for me."

Touching upon the smoking, drinking and romantic scenes in Ek Love Ya, Rachita explains that the character sketched by director Prem demanded these scenes. "Everything is done just for the film, and we are not promoting these vices in any way. I am usually tagged as the 'the bold and brave' heroine, and now 'smoking and drinking' has became an additional tag," signs off Rachita on a rather sombre note.

Amitabh Bachchan turns narrator for Radhe Shyam

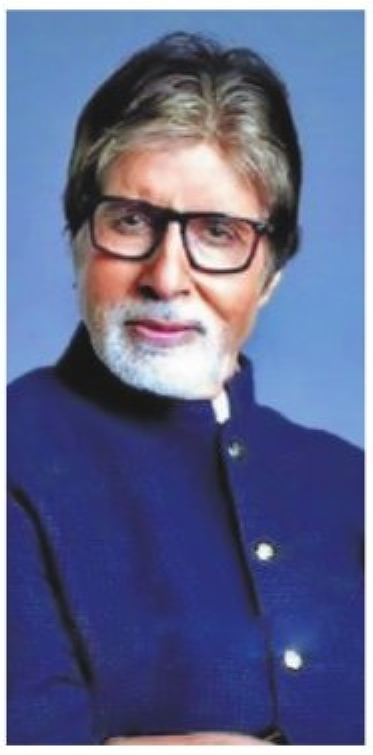
CE FEATURES

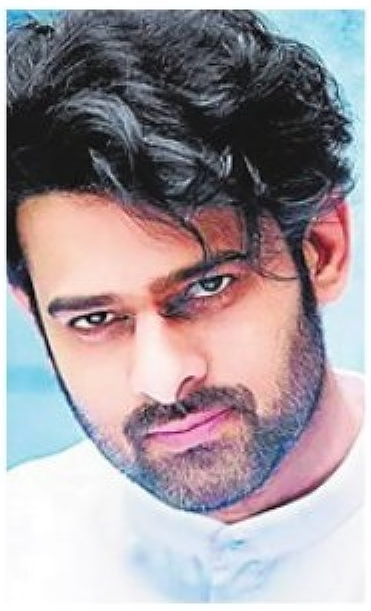
PRABHAS'S Radhe Shyam is gearing up to hit screens on March 11. The film is set for release in five languages -- Telugu, Tamil, Malayalam, Kannada and Hindi.

Bollywood superstar Amitabh Bachchan has joined the team by turning narrator for the film. The makers are hoping that Amitabh's iconic baritone will bring weight and dimension to the film.

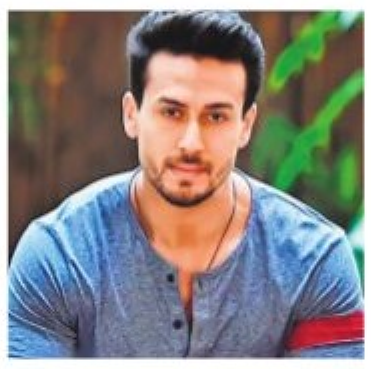
Talking about this development, says director Radha Krishna Kumar, "The film is set in the 1970s and is mounted on a massive scale, we needed a voice that can command the nation and who better than Mr Amitabh Bachchan, a voice that everyone recognizes, respects and more importantly loves. We are so happy to have him as Radhe Shyam's narrator."

Radhe Shyam is a love story set in Europe in the 1970s with Prabhas essaying the role of a palmist. Pooja Hegde plays the female lead in the film, which also stars Sachin Khedekar, Bhagyashree, Krishnam Raju (Telugu version), and Sathyaraj (in other versions) in pivotal roles.





Heropanti 2 wraps up Dubai schedule



CE FEATURES

TARA Sutaria and Tiger Shroff have wrapped up a schedule of Heropanti 2 in Dubai. The film was also shot in Al Ain near Abu Dhabi in the UAE. A previous schedule was completed in London.

Heropanti 2 is written by Rajat Arora and directed by Ahmed Khan. The film reunites Tiger with Tara after 2019's Student of the Year 2. They're joined by Nawazuddin Siddiqui in the cast. The film's music is by AR Rahman. It is set to release on April 29, 2022.

Released in 2014, Heropanti was a romantic actioner starring Tiger and Kriti Sanon. The actors will be seen together in Vikas Bahl's Ganapath. Tiger and Nawazuddin were co-stars in Munna Michael.

Aditi Prabhudeva

Aditi Prabhudeva: Srini and I share a strong mutual trust

The actor talks to CE about her upcoming release Old Monk, a romantic drama directed by Srini

CE FEATURES

ADITI Prabhudeva is currently in a happy space, both in her personal and professional life. The actor, who got engaged a couple of months ago is gradually learning the balancing act and making sure she gives time to family as well as her career. While Aditi is busy juggling shooting between Mafia and Jamali Gudda, she is eagerly looking forward to Old Monk hitting theatres on Feb 25.

Aditi, who previously shared screen space with Srini in Rangayanayaki, has collaborated with him once again in Old Monk. This is the first time Aditi is working under Srini's direction, and she believes that it is the trust factor that ensured the film came out well. "He believed in my performance, and I believed in the content that Srini came up with," says Aditi, who recalls how Old Monk came into being. "We had won an award for Ranganayaki, and during our travel to receive the award, he discussed the one-liner of this subject and asked for my opinion. A few months later, he offered me the role. Since I already knew the content, I had no reason to say no," Aditi tells us.

A still from Old Monk

Aditi believes Srini is a very creative person, and says, "Going by his movies, he is someone who breaks barriers, and has always gone out of the regular template of Kannada cinema. He loves experimenting and doesn't fear the outcome. He needs to be credited for going with his instincts and taking the risks," she says.

Talking about the unique title, Aditi shares that she wasn't aware of the popular alcohol brand of the same name before signing the project. "Srini explained that *Old Mon*k when translated in Kannada means 'Hale Sanyasi' or Narada, and I thought it was a catchy title. But trust me, I was not aware it is a name of a popular rum brand until someone told me," Aditi chuckles with innocence.

Aditi shares that this is the first time she got to play a role similar to her personal life. "Old Monk also allowed me to work with a whole lot of senior actors. Spending time with them helped me to know them better," she says.

The actor assures that the Srini directorial will remind the audience of some classics featuring Anant Nag, Dwarakish's Guru Shishyaru, and Ramesh Aravind's Kurigalu Sir Kurigalu. "It is going to be full of fun."

'ROCKET BOYS SEASON 2 WILL STICK CLOSE TO FACTS'

Jim Sarbh, Ishwak Singh, Regina Cassandra and Abhay Pannu on their smart, sky reaching show

SHILAJIT MITRA

Jim Sarbh wants to talk about his cat. The actor has a snuggly white calico cat, Mimi, whom he rescued during the lockdown. She later accompanied him on the shoots for Rocket Boys. "Thankfully, some of the hotels we stayed at were pet-friendly," Jim recalls. "They converted the room and took out the carpet so Mimi could be with me."

She's proved quite the lucky charm, too. Rare for a Hindi web series, Rocket Boys has succeeded entirely on its own terms. The 8-episode series chronicles the friendship and parallel journeys of pioneering Indian scientists Homi J. Bhabha and Vikram Sarabhai. As Homi, Jim is delightfully unhinged. Told by CV Raman that the Japanese are cutting off India's rubber supplies, he simply asks, "Shall I commit hara-kiri?" It's a thorough, well-etched portraiture, by turns witty, unpredictable and self-assertive against all odds.

"Everything I'd heard about Homi said he was in equal measures sophisticated, gentlemanly, mercurial, intelligent, charming, moody, and funny," Jim says. In the show, we catch him playing a violin, and addressing Jawaharlal Nehru as 'bhai'. The actor's ease with English and Parsi came in handy for the role. Still, it's not an exact recreation of the famous physicist's voice — as evinced by recordings such as his 1955 UN Conference address.

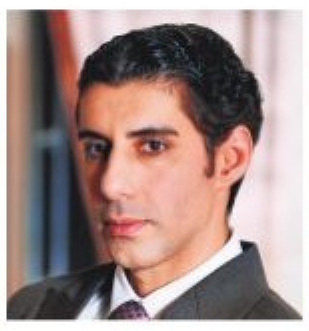
"I was relieved we didn't have to do the old-timey voices," Jim admits. "In reality, his speaking style would have been closer to Nehru's. But we obviously dropped that for clarity."

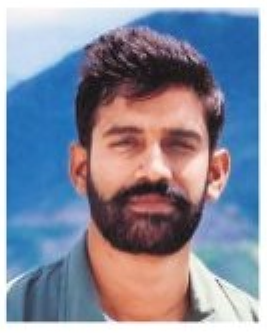
In an early scene, Homi explains the significance of cosmic rays to an awed classroom. He assembles a Wilson cloud chamber to show radiation tracks — the idea popped up while writer-director Abhay Pannu was wondering how best to convey Homi's passion for particle physics. "Before the hadron collider, this is how research was done," Abhay says. "We discovered it could be shown in a DIY class experiment way." "Homi always thought of science as a creative discipline," Jim adds.

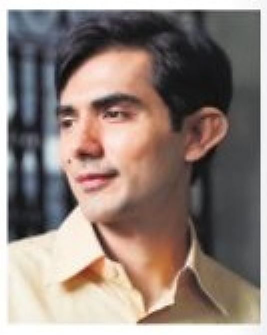
In Rocket Boys, Jim is flanked by Ishwak Singh as Vikram Sarabhai. It's a contrasting role but by no means a bland one. "The lunatic brown kid is blowing up the courtyard again," scoffs a professor at Cambridge, and Ishwak's studied, measured performance switches comfortably between curiosity and indignation. The founder of India's space program is shown as a man of grounded values and sensibilities. A rift is introduced — then resolved as Vikram comes to accept Homi's push for India's nuclearization.

"The key stone of their edifice was the same," Ishwak says poetically. "What was different is how they applied it "

This synergy of opposites is also felt in the characters' personal relationships. Mrinalini Sarabhai was a renowned classical dancer who married Vikram in 1942. Early in their courtship, she chastises him for dissing William Cameron Menzies's silent classic Things to Come. Later, she voices her desire to teach Bharatanatyam, a life-long passion that culminated in them founding the Darpana Academy of Performing Arts in Ahmedabad.







"This whole amalgamation of science and arts is what struck a chord between them," says Regina Cassandra, who plays Mrinalini Sarabhai. "Through her dance, Mrinalini brought forth social issues like dowry deaths in pre and post independence India. She was more than Vikram Sarabhai's wife."

Rocket Boys' weakest link, perhaps, is its portrayal of the secondary characters. APJ Abdul Kalam turns up in expectedly heart-tugging fashion. But the show's other Muslim, an embittered Bengali physicist named Raza Mehdi (Dibyendu Bhattacharya), is a hard one to buy. Not only is the character entirely fictional, but the emphasis on his Muslim identity creates a false binary with Homi, who is shown as progressive and nation-minded.

"More than religion, I wanted to highlight the class divide between these two scientists," says Abhay, explaining his intentions behind Raza Mehdi. "The show plays on certain preconceived notions we tend to have towards Muslim characters. By the end, though, he's revealed to be a patriot."

Perhaps season 2 will clarify the motives better. There's also the thorny business of Homi's death — purportedly, as the show suggests, at the hands of the CIA.

"We are sticking as close to facts as possible to fill the gaps in history," Abhay asserts.

Rocket Boys is streaming on SonyLIV.
